Brief Sketches of Their Lives, Which Should Be An Inspiration to All; Opportunities In Portsmouth for the Hard-working, Conscientious Young Man Just As Good As Anywhere Else In The World

JOHN F. TAYLOR

A motto "Everything for everybody" started John F. Taylor, president of the Universal Motor Company, in the automobile business. Mr. Taylor was associated with his uncle, Lafayette Taylor, in the management of a general store at Rarden. The motto, "Everything for everybody" led the younger partner to suggest that they add Ford cars to the stock they carried.

John F. Taylor was born February 10, 1878, in Susquehanna County, Pennsylvania. When he was but 13 years old he worked for six months on a farm for the sum of $8.00 per month, and at the end of his six months had saved $45.

At the age of 18 he came to Scioto County and went to work for his uncle in Rarden at a salary of $10 a month.

After 10 years of work for his uncle, Mr. Taylor purchased a half interest in the general store. When, in 1914, he decided to add Ford cars to the various lines carried, the uncle protested on the ground that it would distract his attention from the general work of the store. That first year Mr. Taylor contracted to sell 14 Ford cars.

This year he delivered 1,001 cars and 24 tractors.

The automobile business grew to such an extent that in 1915 Mr. Taylor moved to Portsmouth and in 1917 sold his interest in the store at Rarden and devoted his attention exclusively to the sale of Ford products, service, parts and accessories. July, 1923, saw the completion of the Universal Building on Gallia street, which provides 51,000 square feet of floor space and represents including the stock, an investment of $350,000.

In addition to his work as president of the Universal Motor Company, Mr. Taylor holds the presidency of the Portsmouth Auto Supply Company, which he organized in 1918, and also of the Otway Motor Company, at Otway.

In 1898 Mr. Taylor was married to Romie E. Stewart, the mother of his two children, Mary, a graduate of Ohio State University, who is practicing her profession of trained nurse in Columbus, and Helen, who is a student in the Columbus School for Girls.

Mr. Taylor is a member of the Trinity M. E. church, the Masonic orders, York Rite and Scottish Rite Shrine, Yezdigerd Grotto, Kiwanis Club, Retail Dealers' Association, Chamber of Commerce, Ohio Automobile Dealers, Portsmouth Automobile Dealers, and serves on the executive board of the Ohio Automotive Trade Association.

Mr. Taylor's own success in Portsmouth is proof that this is a community of opportunity and an indication that there are just as great possibilities here now as there were years ago when the community was young and practically every field of endeavor was new.

Coolidge Orders Probe Of Charges That Members Of Congress Accepted Bribes

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Not only the charges against two members of congress but evidence relating to other suggestions of wrong doing by officials in Washington as well will be laid before a Federal grand jury here immediately.

White House officials said today that all phases of evidence adduced recently by the Chicago jury and not passed on there because of lack of jurisdiction, would be gone into by a grand jury here.

The subjects expected to come under inquiry involve charges that one or more high officials used official information for purposes of speculations; that liquor permits were wrongly procured through use of money; and that official government files were turned over to persons not entitled to them.

For the present, no official will discuss details of the charges nor disclose in what direction the inquiry may lead. The development has created a stir in official circles, however, second only to that which followed the oil disclosures.

President Coolidge announced last night that the charges against the two members of the house involving acceptance of money in connection with the release of Federal prisoners, would be thoroughly investigated by a grand jury. Prior to that the Senate Veterans' Committee had held two sessions to consider the charges and a resolution for an investigation had been introduced in the house.

John W. H. Crim, who was in charge of the Chicago investigation, has conferred with members of both senate and house but he has declined to furnish

Coolidge Opposed To Philippine Freedom Now

WASHINGTON, March 5.—(By the Associated Press)—President Coolidge informed the Philippine independence mission today that in his opinion the time has not yet come for separation of the Philipines from the United States.

In a letter to Manuel Roxas, chairman of the mission, the president also declared that the United States government "has full confidence in the ability, good intentions, fairness and sincerity" of Governor General Wood.

"In the present state of world relationship," the letter said, "the American government owes an obligation to continue extending a protecting arm to the people of these islands."

SPURIOUS CONFESSION ON WALL STREET BOMB PLOT

LONDON, March 5.—(By the United Press)—Ralph Thurber, an American, serving a term in the Pentonville prison for failing to register under the alien law used a spurious confession that he participated in the Wall Street bomb explosion in order to obtain transfer to the United States. Advices from San Francisco said Thurber was in San quentin prison on September 16, 1920, when the explosion occurred. As a result of the information from San Francisco Thurber was sentenced today to three months in prison after which he will be deported.

NEW YORK, March 5.—(By the Associated Press)—The confession of Ralph Thurber, prisoner in a London penitentiary, implicating himself and a number of other persons in the Wall Street explosion of September 16, 1920, in which thirty persons lost their lives and scores of others were injured, today was the object of an intensive inquiry in this country, which pointed out, however, that a similar inquiry in the past had been fruitless.

Officials plainly indicated their desire to plumb the new clue before embarking on extradition proceedings which were suggested by the American consul general in London who sent word of Thurber's confession to District Attorney Banton through Secretary of State Hughes and Governor Smith.

POSTMASTER GETS POSTAL BUSINESS IN EUROPE

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Results are being realized from a quiet campaign that has been conducted by Postmaster General New to obtain for American vessels a fair share in the transportation of American-bound mail from Europe.

The withholding of mails from American vessels by the British postal administration for shipment in British vessels sailing several days later caused the postmaster general to start his campaign and he has just concluded with the Egyptian government an arrangement which gives the American vessels the bulk of mail destined for the United States originating in Egypt or passing through Alexandria, the gateway for nearly all Southern Asiatic mail.

Arrival at New York of the American steamer America with a consignment of 6,434 bags of mail from Europe—an uncommonly large amount—has been followed by disclosure that Postmaster General New sent Russell White, an employee of the Post Office Department, to Europe to impress upon foreign government officials and business men that their American mail could be expedited by shipment on American vessels. As a result, postal officials say, 18,038 bags of mail were brought from Europe in American vessels during the first sixty days of this year, as compared with 17,581 bags during the first seven months of 1923.

Operations of sea-post service on American vessels for sorting and distributing foreign mail while in transit, expedites delivery from twenty-four to forty-eight hours, saving foreign interest payments on those periods and enabling quicker placing of the orders for American goods.

Donahey Refuses To Call Session

COLUMBUS, Ohio, March 5.—Governor Donahey today refused the request of Attorney-General Crabbe that he call a special session of the Ohio legislature to appropriate funds for the assistance of the 150 school districts in which schools may have to close before the end of the present school year because of a lack of funds.

The governor, in his reply to Crabbe, declared that the present situation is due to errors and oversights on the part of the general assembly and pointed out that, inasmuch as the general assembly technically is recessed for five minutes, the special legislative committee appointed for that purpose can reconvene the session at any time if it so desires, without aid from the governor. A copy of the correspondence with the attorney general was sent to the legislative committee.

In asking the governor to call a special session, Attorney General Crabbe declared that approximately 150 school districts will have to suspend operations before the end of the present school year unless they receive financial assistance and that some of

Suit Starts

The Candler family of Atlanta, Ga., once more is in the limelight with the commencement of the suit of $100,000 filed by Mrs. Clyde K. Byfield (above) against Walter Candler. She alleges Candler attacked her in her stateroom aboard a vessel bound for Paris.

THREE SCIOTO COUNTY AGENTS ARE RELEASED

COLUMBUS, O., March 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Activities of 110 state prohibition agents, "card" men, was terminated today by State Prohibition Commissioner B. F. McDonald in accordance with the ruling of Attorney General C. C. Crabbe that they were without legal status.

Following a conference with Governor Donahey this morning at which the attorney general's opinion, rendered last night, was considered, Commissioner McDonald returned to his office and immediately began sending out telegrams to the "card" men, ordering them to make no more arrests and to immediately turn in their cards and badges of authority.

Commissioner McDonald also began preparing a statement which was expected to deal with the effects of prohibition enforcement as a result of the discharge of the "card" men and his plans for conducting enforcement of the prohibition law with the limited force that will be at his disposal.

Under the attorney general's ruling, activities of detectives and deputy marshals appointed under the Miller prohibition enforcement law by village councils and whose salaries are paid from funds set aside from fines and costs in prohibition cases, would be limited solely to the gathering of evidence. The authority of a regular marshal or his regular appointed deputy, who is paid from general funds of the village to make arrests is not impaired by Crabbe's ruling. In all instances however, they must act only upon warrants duly obtained.

The ruling does not change the status of regularly appointed state enforcement officers who are paid stipulated salaries by the state of which there are twenty such officers, or temporary officers who may be appointed by the prohibition commissioner at stipulated salaries paid by the state.

Following is a part list of card men whose positions were terminated today:

Hamilton — Harry R. Beveridge, Louis Bolser, Harold R. Shugg.
Springfield—Charles A. Burke.
Middletown—C. F. Bellstein.
Columbus Grove—Mark Bogart, S. E. Williams.
Steubenville—Tom Boychan, C. S. Harris, H. W. Wilson.
Kenmore—David J. Brenneman, C. C. Crispin, W. R. Stone, Julius Morris.
East Palestine—Thomas P. Crawford.
Portsmouth—William Lemon, D. E. Seby, George F. Watters, Jr.
Marietta—E. E. Swingford.
Urbana—H. J. Schrader.
North Canton—Pearl L. Talley.
Lorain—Frank J. Kiady.

Crimples Dry Enforcement.

COLUMBUS, March 5.—(By the Associated Press)—State Prohibition Commissioner McDonald declared Attorney General Crabbe's ruling knocking out 110 "card" prohibition enforcement inspectors "practically stripped this office of all useful authority," and would "greatly cripple the work of prohibition enforcement in Ohio."

Commissioner McDonald declared that "hereafter, in communities where emergencies exist because of laxity of local officials, prohibition enforcement will depend largely on officials over which I have no control and who are almost wholly responsible for all just criticism rather than the men appointed by me."

The prohibition commissioner also directed a shaft at the attorney general by calling attention to the fact that legality of the "card" men never had been questioned in the numerous cases that had been fought in the courts and the fact that no attorney in defense of violators had ever found this weakness in the state's prohibition enforcement machinery.

Probers On Trail Of Mysterious Principal

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 5.—(By the United Press)—Some 300 additional telegrams perused by the senate oil committee, in executive session today opened a trail that may lead to identification of the principal mysterious person mentioned in the exchange of telegrams between Edward B. McLean in Palm Beach and his agents here.

Suspirions of Teapot Dome investigators as to the identity of the principal was said to have been strengthened by the new messages inspected.

Two committee members now say they have no doubt as to the persons identity and believe open developments in this connection will follow shortly.

Of the 300 telegrams which passed between leading figures in the oil scandal and which committee members read today about 75 were selected as extremely pertinent to the inquiry. Contents of the 75 telegrams will be revealed tomorrow. The United Press is informed that these messages besides confirming opinion as to the identity of the mysterious principal also:

ONE—Make further mention of William J. Burns, Chief of the Bureau of Investigation in the Justice Department.

TWO — Frequently mention the name of "Willis" but not in such a way as to definitely establish his identity.

THREE—Show that Edward B. McLean, publisher of the Washington Post knew further details of the Florida visit of C. Bascomb Slemp, secretary to President Coolidge.

FOUR—Mentioned the name of a man from a certain state in such a way as to arouse suspicion of some of the committee members that man designated may be a senator.

These telegrams will help the committee to complete the story of the intrigue to keep McLean from going before the investigating committee.

Red Tape Saves Him From Guilotine

PARIS, March 5.—(By the Associated Press)—The red tape of French law has saved Albert LeClery from the guillotine. LeClery was tried at Chartres for attempted murder of a policeman and the jury had no hesitation in finding him guilty—unanimously.

When it was pointed out to the jurors that there was no need to specify the "unanimously" in their written verdict they crossed out the word. They failed, however, to initial the correction in the margin, an omission which the Supreme Court now holds invalidated the verdict.

Holds Boxing Bouts After Prayer Meeting

DENVER, March 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Despite a hundred or more protests from a score of cities from New York to San Francisco, Rev. B. B. Kessler, pastor of the Merit Memorial Methodist Church here, declares he will continue boxing bouts after his semi-monthly prayer meetings, the next such program being set for tonight.

"I am not in favor of prize fighting," says the Rev. Kessler, "but I am very much in favor of clean athletics and amateur sport. I have told my boys that those who can use boxing gloves will not use knives or guns."

Coolidge Must Show Himself Bigger Than His Party To Be Elected; Congress Hase Done Nothing

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1924

WASHINGTON, March 5—Today ends the third year of Republican rule. Will it be one year more or less? On the answer to that question the whole machinery of politics is at the moment devoted. And the consensus of opinion is that the record of Congress in the next few weeks and the manner in which President Coolidge handles the executive end of the Teapot Dome controversy will the verdict of the jury—the American people—be rendered.

Congress has done relatively little since it assembled last December. Appropriation bills are delayed. As Senator Warren, Republican leader, points out the constructive measures pending are in danger of being sacrificed by the necessity of getting appropriation bills out of the way. Another fiscal year begins June 30th and Congress is way behind schedule.

President Coolidge, keenly aware that the spotlight is on him, has started his fight for Senate changes in the tax bill passed by the house. He has let it be known that the House measure is unsatisfactory. He is not ready to say on what grounds he would veto an unsatisfactory bill but he has made it plain that the House bill is not what he wants.

Broadway Faces Actor's Strike

NEW YORK, March 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Broadway theatrical managers are threatened with dissension as an actor's strike looms.

David Belasco, veteran playwright and producer, says he will retire rather than continue his work under the rules of closed or Equity shop. He is one of twenty producers who have signed an agreement not to accept the Equity shop principle as it now stands.

A committee headed by Lee Shubert, known to favor making peace with the Equity, met yesterday Mr. Shubert's refusal to discuss the meeting led to a rumor that peace was in sight between the Shubert allies and Equity.

The Equity is thinking of calling a strike June 1 to enforce its demands. The Actors' Equity Association is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

SAVED FROM THE SAUSAGE FACTORY

A black and white spotted fox hound, belonging to a gentleman who lives at 1525 Chillicothe street, had a narrow escape last week.

The poor dog came very near being a hot dog.

He wandered away from home and got himself completely lost. Rumor has it that the sausage man was dogging his footsteps.

But a Times classified ad saved him. His master inserted a "Lost" ad in The Daily Times' classified columns and the dog was found in a short time.

Times ads always find a way of pleasing those who use them.

When YOU lose anything — a hot dog or a cold dog — just call 2000 and tell an adtaker about it.

Paid-Up Insurance Bonus Proposed

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 5.—(By the Associated Press)—The House Wrys and Means Committee, in winding up its public hearing on soldier bonus legislation, heard further arguments today for inclusion of cash payment options in any adjusted compensation measure it adopts.

The variety of proposals laid before the committee in the three days of the hearing are expected to occupy the committee for a longer time than it had planned to devote to the drafting of a measure. Chairman Green had planned to have a bill ready to report to the house by Saturday, but now it is feared this may not be possible.

Emphasis has been placed during the hearing on a paid-up insurance proposition, some members of the committee favoring restricting the bonus entirely to such a plan, but considerable opposition has developed to incorporation of such a limitation.

DR. CLARKE LOWRY LAID TO REST

The Ironton Register Tuesday said:

The funeral services over the remains of Dr. A. Clarke Lowry were held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at his late home on the corner of Fifth and Adams streets amid scenes that were beautifully impressive. Many friends from Ironton and abroad, business associates and numberless relatives attended the services which were conducted by Rev. W. T. Blume, pastor of the First M. E. church of which the decensed was a member assisted by Rev. W. H. Hampton, rector emeritus of Christ Episcopal church.

It is doubtful if ever there had been a greater display of floral tributes in the city of Ironton the number running to several scores and including great set pieces from institutions with which Dr. Lowry was associated in his life and from individuals who prized the friendship and association with the deceased.

Those who served as pallbearers were: C. H. McClung formerly of Ironton, but now of Cincinnati, C. E. Marting, R. D. McKnight, J. N. Hodson, A. D. Markin, T. J. Kennedy and Dr. P. S. Chesnut, all friends and intimates of the deceased.

The services at the home were open to the friends of Dr. Lowry and his family but the inhumation at Woodland in the Marting-Lowry mausoleum was attended by only the members of the family.

In addition to hundreds of friends from Ironton the following persons from abroad were in attendance at the funeral: George Marting of Pineville, Ky., Mr. and Mrs. C. H. McClung of Cincinnati, Misses Ida and Clara Herman, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Marting and family of Portsmouth, Mr. and Mrs. Reif and family of Charleston, W. Va., Mrs. Carolyne Reif and Mrs. Clara Flehr of Wheelersburg, and many others.

Frank Injured When Horse Hit By Auto

Bernard Frank, a young man living on the Boulevard was hurt, though not seriously, when a horse he was riding was struck from behind by an automobile driven by a man who gave the name of G. A. Hunt, Norwood, son of E. W. Hunt, Homestead hotel, a foreman in a local shoe plant, it is said.

The mishap, which occurred on Scioto Trail, in front of the George B. Millar farm, above Clifford, resulted, it is claimed, when the horse became frightened, and, in attempting to pass, the machine struck the equine, breaking its hind legs. The animal, which was owned by E. D. Henderson, of the Star Livery stable, Third street, was later destroyed. Frank, who sustained bruises when thrown to the roadway by the impact, was on his way to Wakefield after a cow.

Looking for Mrs. Jones

In a letter received Wednesday, George S. Burton, 730 Monroe street, Danville, Va., enlists the aid of the police in locating Mrs. Susie Jones, formerly Mrs. Susie Stamper, who, it is believed, lives in Portsmouth. Mrs. Jones is the former wife of W. P. Stamper, who died recently in East Liverpool, leaving an insurance policy and the writer, as district deputy of Roman Eagle Lodge, No. 18, Knights of Pythias, Danville, desires to find Mrs. Jones to ascertain, if possible, the beneficiary under the policy.

The police have been unable to find any trace of Mrs. Jones, and any one knowing of her whereabouts is requested to send her address to police headquarters or direct to Mr. Burton.

Policeman and Bandit Killed in Bank Raid

DETROIT, March 5.—(By the A. P.)—A police sergeant and a bandit were killed and another bandit probably fatally wounded this afternoon in a gun fight between policemen of Hamtramck and the bandits, following an attempt to rob the Peoples' National Bank of that suburb. Another member of the bandit gang was captured.

The dead policeman is Frank Rozaw, who died from a bullet wound in the neck, inflicted by the bandit he probably mortally wounded. The dead member of the bandit gang died on the floor of the police headquarters, from a shot by Stanley Pryssbylski, bank teller. The other bandit escaped amid a fusillade of shots but was later captured.

The robbery was attempted simultaneously with the sounding of a false fire alarm which also sent motorized policemen to the northern end of the suburbs. During the excitement, the bandits slipped into the bank, jumped over the counter with a command of "hands up." The command was answered by a shot from Pryssbylski's revolver while Earl Lucyzytski, assistant cashier, dropped to his knees and sounded the police alarm.

The alarm brought out the remaining policemen and the gun battle was on. Nothing was obtained from the bank.

THE EQUITABLE

LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY OF THE U. S.

120 BROADWAY, NEW YORK, N.Y.

Incorporated under the Laws of the State of New York

There are Equitable policies for all life insurance needs—policies to strengthen the business and credit of individuals, firms, and corporations; policies to pay inheritance taxes; to settle estates; to aid in the purchase of homes; to safeguard mortgages; to educate children; to support men and women in old age; to protect employees through group insurance. But the most important public service rendered by the Equitable is to assure protection for the family and home under policies providing in various ways for the payment of the insurance money in the form of a monthly income for life. Thus the beneficiaries are protected against waste or loss. In this way the Equitable provides insurance that insures—protection that gives permanent protection. The Equitable's public service is further indicated by the distribution of its funds throughout the United States in conservative investments, including dwelling and farm loans.

Niagara of Beer Poured Into River

ELGIN, Ill., March 5.—(By the A. P.)—Amid a shower of foam, the first quantity of 3,675 barrels of beer being destroyed by prohibition agents, splashed out of the Elgin Ice & Beverage Company yesterday afternoon and flowed into the Fox river.

Destruction of the beer and machinery of the brewery, valued at $200,000 was ordered by the United States District court after its owners, L. J. Cowley and Richard C. Burrill, had been given jail sentences for violating the prohibition laws.

One onlooker, tempted by the amber stream and its foamy offering, tried today to get under the stream with a pail, but was thwarted by officers.

MR. S. B. BIGGERT,
Columbus, O.

"It is certainly remarkable the way Ka-di-ok helped me to overcome a severe attack of rheumatism for I had tried any number of remedies without getting any relief, but since taking it I am entirely free from rheumatic pains am a lot stronger and feel like an entirely different man."

This statement was made to the Ka-di-ok expert at Herpich's drug store, a short time ago by Mr. Sabestine B. Biggert, an aged farmer of Galloway, Ohio. Further continuing, he said.

"Thirty years ago, or to be exact in 1892, I was County Commissioner of Franklin-co, during President Cleveland's administration: I am a member of the Order of Masons of West Jefferson, having joined the order thirty-five years ago.

"I don't expect to feel as well and strong as I did years ago but the rheumatism certainly worked on my nerves and made me feel like I was ready to give up as I suffered continually and nothing I could do brought me any relief. I had no desire to eat and felt tired and worn out all the time. Then one day I made up my mind to try Ka-di-ok. I can now say to everybody that it will really do more than is claimed for it. I have taken several bottles of Ka-di-ok and feel ten years younger. I can eat anything I want, my nerves are in good condition and I sleep soundly. The most surprising thing of all is that I don't have more trouble from rheumatism. I gratefully recommend Ka-di-ok to everybody."

Ka-di-ok can be obtained in Portsmouth at Fisher & Streich Drug Store.

WASHINGTON, March 5 — The Norfolk and Western Railway Company asked the Interstate Commerce Commission today to authorize an issue of $12,000,000 in equipment trust certificates. The road proposes to purchase 6,000 seventy-ton steel hopper cars.

Bender To Protest Cuyahoga Division

CLEVELAND, O., March 5.—(By the Associated Press)—State Senator George H. Bender, Ohio manager for Hiram W. Johnson's campaign, announced that he would go before the board of elections today to protest against the division of Cuyahoga county into districts for the election of delegates to the state Republican and Democratic conventions.

Mr. Bender said he will appear in behalf of Charles Hock, Johnson candidate for delegate to the national convention, whose petition was protested yesterday on the ground that he is not a resident of the twentieth congressional district in which he is running.

If Mr. Hock or the candidates to the state convention are disqualified by the board, Mr. Bender said he would start legal proceedings against members of the board.

Police Trying to Locate Driver Whose Machine Hit Woman and Grand-Daughter

Reports from Hempstead hospital today indicated that Mrs. Rebekah Ferguson, 1130 1-2 Chillicothe street, who with her little grand-daughter, Agnes Denning, was struck by an automobile at Fourteenth and Chillicothe streets last night, probably did not sustain internal injuries as was first feared.

According to the story told by witnesses of the accident, Mrs. Ferguson, with her daughter, Mrs. Bessie Denning, and the little granddaughter were crossing Fourteenth street at Chillicothe, when the machine turned east on Fourteenth off of Chillicothe. Mrs. Ferguson and the little girl stepped down off the curb before any of them saw the on-coming car. Both were knocked down and dragged several feet before the car could be brought to a stop. Mrs. Denning declares that the driver of the car failed to sound his horn.

Mrs. Ferguson was unconscious when picked up and was taken to Hempstead hospital. Authorities there this morning report that she spent a sleepless night from shock but does not seem to be suffering much pain.

The little girl's injuries were not serious and she was taken to her home.

The name of the driver of the car which struck the two pedestrians was not learned but according to Mrs. Denning the car bore the license number [illegible] and efforts are being made to ascertain the name of the driver.

The files at the automobile registration bureau show that license [illegible] was issued to Robert [illegible], Portsmouth, R. F. D. 1.

Daugherty To Face Charges of Failure To Press Anti-Trust Prosecutions

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Plans for the investigation of Attorney General Daugherty have advanced sufficiently to indicate that the special committee elected for the purpose by the senate will take up first the charges of failure to press anti-trust law cases transmitted to the Department of Justice by the Federal Trade Commission.

The anti-trust cases, which number about 50, were emphasized in the impeachment proceedings against Mr. Daugherty about a year ago and Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, prime mover in the inquiry, is assembling papers and complaints dealing with them preparatory to the expected opening of the inquiry next week.

Mr. Wheeler, who has been assigned the task of determining procedure, also has decided in his official role of "prosecutor" to employ an attorney to assist him as law clerk.

Source of Drugs Bared By Arrests

SAN DIEGO, CAL., March 5.—(By the Associated Press)—With the arrest and imprisonment here last night of Oscar Israel, a chauffeur, and Mrs. Sadie Stock, apartment house owner, Federal agents said they believed three years of effort to find one of the sources of narcotics supplied to many prominent persons in California had been successful.

[illegible] in charge of the Southern California district, said he had received information that narcotics in large quantities were being smuggled into the United States from Germany by way of Mexico, being brought to San Pedro by boat and [illegible].

Officers said Mrs. Stock had a list of [illegible] the names of many persons [illegible] in San Diego, Los Angeles, Hollywood and San Francisco, [illegible].

Spurious

The messages from London made public yesterday quoted Thurber as having said all details of the plot and the names of the conspirators were known to Rev. Herbert Wilson of San Diego and Los Angeles, Cal. It was pointed out that William J. Burns, head of the Federal secret service, last year questioned Wilson and was satisfied he had no part in the crime.

"All details of plot and names of conspirators," Secretary Hughes' telegram to the governor said, "are known to Herbert Wilson of San Diego, and Los Angeles, Cal. and following were participants in the affair:

"Miss Girlie O'Day, 156 Glendale Boulevard, Los Angeles; Big Jeff Robinson, alias Big Jeff Thompson, 66 [illegible] street, New York City; S. Cleveland, alias The K. I. "BLACK-DRAUGHT DID THE WORK"

Says Mississippi Lady, Who Says She Had Been So Nervous She Felt Like Tearing Her Clothes

BILOXI, Miss.—"I had, for a year or more, nervous indigestion, or some form of stomach trouble," says Mrs. Alonzo Ford, 1117 [illegible] street, this city. "The water I drank at that time seemed to constipate me. I would suffer until I got so nervous I wanted to get down on the floor and roll. I felt like I could tear my clothes.

Appetite Gone?

A tempting, delicious looking meal—all the choicest morsels from a well stocked pantry. The fragrant aroma of all these good things failing to put a keen edge on your appetite—failing to arouse, in any degree, a hardy relish for the food so attractively placed before you. Why?

Scores of men and women are faced with the same misfortune. After a day of toil—when they are tired—when good things to eat should be ravishly sought to recharge their vitality and fit them for play time—their stomachs turn. They are worn down, played out. Food has no appeal. To them it is sickening. The aroma of appetizing things nauseates them.

Red blood cells are missing. Red blood which should be coursing through your veins strengthening your vitality—adding to your strength—keeping you healthy and fit—is not to be found.

S. S. S. is what is needed. Your blood needs purifying. What use is an automobile without a battery? What advantage is a dynamo without electricity? Your body is a human dynamo. Your blood cells supply the energy which keeps your body well and fit. Weakened blood cells make you like the storage battery with dry cells—power is lacking—energy gone—productive qualities at the lowest ebb. S. S. S. supplies the red blood cells—the spark that recharges your system.

Mr. James Chalonpka, Sherman School, Chillicothe, Ohio, writes:

"I feel like a new man after taking S. S. S. It gave me a better appetite and cleared my skin of pimples and blackheads."

Carefully selected, scientifically proportioned and prepared herbs and barks make up S. S. S.—the great blood purifier. Give nature a helping hand. Get back the lost appetite—the missing vitality—the keen, sparkling eyes—that look of determination. The best way to start back over the road to well being is with S. S. S. Nerves will become stronger. S. S. S. will give you more energy, vitality and vigor, and a more "up and going" appearance.

S. S. S. is sold at all leading drug stores. Try a bottle and see for yourself. The large size bottle is more economical. Get one today.

No Trace of Suspects

LOS ANGELES, March 5.—Search here for Miss Girlie O'Day mentioned in a purported confession by Ralph Thurber to London authorities implicating himself and others in the Wall Street bomb explosion of 1920, has been unsuccessful.

The address at which Miss O'Day was said to be living—156 Glendale Boulevard, Los Angeles—does not exist and at 150 Glendale Boulevard, Glendale, no such person as Girlie O'Day ever had been known, according to investigators.

Post Office inspectors who investigated the mail robbery career of Herbert Wilson, also mentioned in the alleged confession, say they found no woman associate named O'Day.

Defied Deportation Order

LONDON, March 5.—By the Associated Press—Ralph Thurber, prisoner in Pentonville jail, who has confessed to implication in the Wall Street bomb explosion of 1920, recently came to England in defiance of a deportation order sending him to America, says the Daily Sketch. The paper adds that the only explanation of his motive for returning here is his own statement that he came to recover a debt of ten pounds sterling. He is said to have travelled by way of Paris and Antwerp, landing in England at Harwich.

Thurber is declared to have left his home in the United States when sixteen years of age to join the Canadian army. It was apparently while serving with the Canadian forces in France that he got into trouble under circumstances causing suspicion that he was acting as a spy and resulting in his deportation.

[illegible] evidence requires further development before any of it can be divulged. It was developed incidentally at Chicago in connection with the Veterans' Bureau inquiry which resulted in the indictment of Charles R. Forbes.

Mr. Crim also reported the facts to the White House leaving to President Coolidge the decision as to what action should be taken. Today's announcement was interpreted as an intimation that the executive was to demand a complete airing of the evidence regardless of who might be involved.

The investigation resolution introduced yesterday in the house by Democratic Leader Garrett was referred to the Rules Committee, but Chairman Snell said today that no action would be taken on it for the present. He reached this conclusion after a conference with Mr. Crim, who told him no information could be furnished a congressional committee without embarrassing the Justice Department in the presentation of the case to a grand jury.

The allegations are an outgrowth of unrelated evidence obtained by the Chicago grand jury which indicted Charles R. Forbes and J. W. Thompson in connection with Veterans' Bureau transactions. It is known that the two men mentioned in the Chicago jury report are members of the house and it is understood that the charges have to do with applications for pardons or paroles, but their names have not been revealed. It was disclosed yesterday, however, that Attorney General Daugherty, while in Chicago last week, submitted evidence to the grand jury relating to their activities.

Discount Company Plan Is Scathingly Scored In Report

CLEVELAND, March 5.—By the A. P.—Bankruptcy charges brought against the Cleveland Discount company by two creditors, George Hossfeld of Toledo and Minnie Eisenberg, of Baltimore, were adjudged unproved and the firm was declared solvent by [illegible] in a report filed with Federal Judge D. C. Westenhaver by Special Master P. L. A. Leighley today.

The amount of Josiah Kirby, deposed president of the company, amounting to approximately $1,500,000, was ruled an asset for failure of petitioners to prove it was not collectable.

The report scathingly arraigned the operations of the company, declaring them to constitute "probably the most gigantic plan and scheme of pyramiding that was ever conceived."

"It is the finest scheme to make $7,000,000 look like $20,000,000 that we have ever heard of. In fact, the assets of the company are the marginal assets representing the difference between 125 per cent pledged and the 100 per cent collateral trust bonds issued and outstanding," the report says.

Despite this arraignment, solvency of the firm was established through "failure of proof," the report continued. Unless Master Leighley is reversed by Judge Westenhaver, who is to rule next on the findings, continuance of the state court receivership is well founded, and receivers now in charge of the company will continue to administer its affairs.

Assets were listed at $5,715,[illegible] and deductions at $3,224,144, these figures approximating the condition of the company in February 1923, Leighley's report states.

SAYS MINISTERS HAVE RIGHT TO BELONG TO KLAN

ATLANTIC CITY, March 5.—Declaring that "every Methodist preacher is a free man and has as much right to belong to the Ku Klux Klan as to the Masons or Odd Fellows, if he thinks that is the proper thing to do," Bishop John Berry, of Philadelphia, in addressing the Eighty-eighth annual New Jersey Methodist conference here today flatly denied he would take any action against ministers known to be members of the hooded order.

Only 60-Day Supply Of Gasoline Ahead

LOS ANGELES, March 5.—By the A. He declared that three great producing fields of California have not returned money invested in them, the drilling [illegible] $50,000,000 to date. The American public must come to realize the necessity for search of new oil fields, he said.

NEW YORK, March 5.—Archer Huntington, wealthy patron of arts and letters and his wife, the former Anna Vaughn Hyatt, sculptor, have gone to the Barbadoes and to the West Indian islands aboard their yacht, the Rosinante, equipped for a two years' cruise, according to the Evening Post, which intimated that the Huntingtons had gone to seek a $60,000,000 buried treasure in South Seas.

Opponents Use Fraud And Deceit, Johnson Asserts

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., March [illegible]—(By The A. P.)—Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California opened his campaign for the Republican presidential preference primary in Michigan last night by demanding a house cleaning of the Republican party.

He argued that his candidacy is being combatted by fraud and deceit, and cited the instance in Michigan where Hiram Johnson was named as a candidate to "confuse the voters." Johnson, he assured his audience, was a mythical figure. He declared that in North Dakota every effort [illegible] made to keep Senator LaFollette's name on the ballot, although the Wisconsin senator has asked it to be withdrawn, to detract from his own support.

The senator called the Teapot Dome disclosures "a series of shocking revelations which are destroying public confidence in public service and breeding anarchy and bolshevism."

The speaker scourged the Mellon tax bill. He said that a system of propaganda, backed by the financial interests which [illegible] recognition, has been enabled to flood the country with expressions favorable to the plan.

A Story of a Pleasure-Mad Girl

NEVER will she forget that dreadful night which in a few short hours changed her from a laughing, carefree, pleasure-loving girl to a serious minded, careworn woman of the world.

Poor little Kate—once too often she had cast the dice with fate and now she was called upon to pay. It was not the first time she had taken auto rides with strange men through country roads and dusky lanes, not the first time she had dropped in at a road-house for a midnight lunch with a man she had never met before. But it was to be the last, for to-night this little moth, gayly fluttering around the flame of life, had flown too close.

If she had only known, if the thousands of girls who every year learn by terrible experience, could only be made to realize that no matter what the provocation, no girl can afford to disregard convention, become careless in her personal conduct, or sacrifice her dignity in the pursuit of pleasure, what countless hours of living death would be avoided.

"My Stranger Husband" is her story, as told by herself. It is a tale of the experience of an ordinary girl, not bad—just average, who in her eagerness to taste the joys of life tried to force the hand of fate. It is in True Story Magazine for April.

From the safe haven of your own fireside see the mistakes she made, see her thoughtlessly abuse her new-found freedom, see the methods by which men she had never met scraped her acquaintance, ride with her on moon-lit roads, see the grim joke played upon her by fate in the guise of a man, follow her through months and years of atonement, even to the shadow of the prison wall. Not only a lesson in life, that thousands pay years of tears and agony to learn but a splendid, vivid true story that will hold your deepest interest to the closing word.

It was not the first time she had dropped into a road house for a midnight lunch with a man she had never met before—but tonight this little moth, gayly fluttering around the flame of life, had flown too close.

Vivid Heart-Stories Fearlessly Told

Here Are Just A Few of the Remarkable Features In The April Issue of True Story Magazine

"The Lure of Green Eyes"—Good looking, an athlete, a splendid student, he led his class in college until he attracted the fancy of Norah Sanderson, beautiful divorcee, woman of the world and ruthless. Then he began to fall behind until, when graduation time came round, he was barely able to make a passing grade. Not understanding women of her type, he considered himself as playing a temporary, pleasant role which he could abandon at any time he chose. But when finally true love came into his life and he tried to break with Nora—but read this amazing story of a mistake that ruins the lives of thousands of young men every year.

"A Fool There Was"—Fresh from the country, he was burdened with self-consciousness, and the morals of ten generations of ministers. By his associates in the city he was considered "just a poor dub." He decided that what he needed was knowledge—knowledge of life—of women—especially of women. He got it—but in a manner and with completeness he could never forget. The things he learned will be of as much value to you as they were to him.

"The Price of Silence"—When she left her baby on her mother's doorstep to be taken in as a foundling she thought she had reached a happy solution of her problem. But years later, when it became necessary for her to break two loving hearts and bare her own, broken these many years in order to forestall an even grimmer tragedy, she realized that sooner or later sin will out. Read this story of an erring woman's life and be glad that you do not have to pay for the knowledge as she had to pay.

"A Wife In The Way"—They married while almost children. As the years passed he developed into a brilliant, talented man on the threshold of a great career while she grew to be a narrow minded, shallow incapable woman—a millstone hung around his neck. Eventually he met the woman who of all women in the world could make him happy. The manner in which these three worked out their destinies makes a thrilling tale of love and tragedy, smiles and tears such as you have seldom read. A powerful argument against thoughtless or too early marriage.

"When Hope Seemed Dead"—When a girl who has given her heart to one man, marries another whom she does not love because her parents wish it, is she not working a terrible injustice upon all three? Is not tragedy, suffering, unhappiness and regret almost sure to follow? Would it not be better to defy her parents to do their worst rather than face the terrible consequences and temptations of such an alliance? This story, told by a girl who had to decide these questions for herself will make wonderful reading and give you a deep insight into human nature.

True Story A Missionary to Boys and Girls

"It is with much pleasure I give my wholehearted endorsement of your magazine TRUE STORY. It lifts it above the sordid and unnatural types of life which our young people have depicted for them in many of our cheap movies and in much of the literature of today. In addition to acting as an antidote to these, your magazine will creat a condition of mind where the actual facts of life can be freely investigated and discussed without fear of arousing a false modesty into indignation. I have long been convinced that to raise the moral tone of our people, we must learn to face the actual facts of life, and deal with these facts on the moral plane. I feel that parents could not do better than to let your magazine be a missionary to their boys and girls so that the great issues of life may be presented in such a way as to free them from the immoral slant which is sapping the reality out of life. What applies to the young is applicable also to adults. If a magazine of this nature were read in every home I believe it would tend to fireside happiness and to the elimination of the many things leading to the divorce courts. (Signed) Rev. F. McAvoy

Why True Story Magazine is a Powerful Influence For Good

True Story Magazine is all that its name implies. Its stories of love, romance, adventure, intrigue, passion, wickedness, sorrow, tragedy are stories as they actually happen in real life. The fictionist, novelist and playwright build their stories according to a pattern. Their purpose is only to entertain. The writers in True Story Magazine follow no pattern but life itself. Stripped of all the artificiality that so warps and falsifies life in books, the personal chronicles in True Story Magazine have a depth, a sincerity, a "ring of truth" that not only warns, guides, instructs and stimulates, but at the same time holds the reader enthralled.

Bernarr Macfadden the man who founded True Story Magazine, who made it the success it is today and who has always controlled its editorial policy.

When young people are stuffed with less romantic nonsense and are fed with wholesome truth about life as it really is we shall have higher standards of morals and less degradation, sin and suffering. It is because True Story Magazine reflects this philosophy so well that it has become such a powerful influence for good. The April issue is now on the newsstands. RECEIVER NAMED FOR FIRM THAT IGNORES STATE WORKMEN'S FUND

COLUMBUS, March 5.—(By the A. P.)—The state of Ohio took drastic action today in upholding the workmen's compensation law to see that injured workmen are not to be denied compensation because of failure of employer to pay his premiums into the workmen's compensation fund.

On application of Attorney General Crabbe, Judge Henry L. Scarlett, in the local common pleas court, appointed Willis Liggett, local attorney, as receiver for the Rome Coal company, of Columbus, because the company has refused to pay premiums into the workmen's compensation fund. The company was alleged to be delinquent $1,-111.76 in premiums.

This is the first time that such action has been taken to force payment of premiums into the compensation fund, though a law providing that such action may be taken, has been on the statute books for several years. Threat to invoke the law against a delinquent company is understood to have been made by the attorney general a couple of years ago, but the threat was sufficient, the company paying the premiums as assessed.

In a statement explaining his action Attorney General Crabbe reported that such drastic action was necessary and expressed a hope that it will not be necessary to invoke the law in the future.

The receiver immediately took charge of the company.

Liver Trouble Now a Known Cause of Premature Old Age

Medical science knows that poisonous waste in our bodies would actually cause death in a few days if not eliminated by Nature's processes. Because it destroys these deadly poisons, the liver is our most important organ—the body's wonderful purifier.

Science now understands how the liver prevents the formation of body poisons that cause diseases of the heart, kidneys, blood vessels and are chiefly responsible for premature old age.

When the liver becomes weak, the poisons are sucked up by the blood and health is broken down. Guided by this knowledge, medical science has found the only way to help the liver create the purifying bile without which no human can live. Physicians know that the liver cannot be regulated by drugs, but a safe Nature substances has been discovered which will at once increase the vital bile supply. The discovery is purified ox gall.

Get from your druggist a package of Dioxol. Each tablet contains ten drops of purified ox gall. In 24 hours the poison toxics will be removed. Your liver will be regulated. Blood purification will begin. Sallow skin will clear. You will feel so much better you will know you have found the cause of your ill health. Dioxol tablets are harmless, tasteless and cost less than two cents each—Advertisement.

TURKISH CALIPH, FORMALLY DEPOSED, LEAVES COUNTRY

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 5.—(By The A. P.)—The Caliph of Turkey was officially abolished today and the Caliph, Abdul Medjid Effendi, left Constantinople for Switzerland.

The Vali of Constantinople, director-general of public security, accompanied by police, at 2 o'clock this morning proceeded to the Dolmabaghche Palace. They ordered the Caliph to take his seat upon his throne and when he had done so the decree of the grand national assembly at Angora ordering his deposition was read.

The Caliph was immediately ordered to descend from the throne and make his arrangements to depart at once from Constantinople.

Ismet Pasha, the foreign minister, during yesterday's discussion of the abolition of the Caliphate and the deposition of the Caliph, made the following statement before the grand national assembly in Angora:

"Our religion will suffer no change, even if the Caliphate is abolished. Our ideals are based on such exalted principles that we never hesitate openly to tell the people and officers and soldiers the aims we are pursuing."

Trying to Prevent Bout Being Held in Cumberland

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 5.—Sympathizers with the proposal that Cumberland, R. I., be the scene of a Dempsey-Wills fight in July, last night captured an indignation meeting called by clergymen to protest the granting of a license for the match. A resolution demanding that the town council revoke the license granted on February 25 to the State Department Veterans of Foreign Wars and John J. Griffin, self-styled representative of a New York syndicate, was presented, but fight proponents forced adjournment before a vote could be taken.

Several clergymen pointed to the financial disaster, which overwhelmed Shelby, Mont., as one reason for barring the fight.

Fight proponents, in upholding the council's action, declared building and policing of a $100,000 stadium would provide employment for hundreds of mill workers who, in the summer, would otherwise be idle, because of industrial depression.

Attempt To Hire Special Dry Officers Is Blocked By The New Boston Council

The proposal to authorize hiring of special liquor officers was again blocked by New Boston council at its regular meeting Tuesday night when the village lawmakers refused to approve legislation providing for payment of a portion of fines assessed in liquor cases to the arresting officers. The full membership was present and on motion the ordinance was tabled indefinitely.

Mayor V. R. Bierley reported receipts of $1,977.51 for the month of February.

An ordinance was passed, determining to proceed with the alley improvement program. Ten stretches are listed for improving. Ninety-eight per cent of the property footage cost is to be borne by owners; the other two per cent and cost of intersections to be borne by the village.

The matter of paving Buch street, the boundary between Portsmouth and New Boston, was taken up, and referred to the Solicitor to arrange dividing of the cost with the city of Portsmouth.

Ordinances providing for purchase of a car for the fire chief and a truck for the service department were given second readings and are eligible for final action at the next meeting.

BANKER GETS VERDICT AGAINST WIFE ACCUSED OF SHADY PAST

NEW YORK, March 5.—(By the A. P.)—A supreme court jury last night returned a verdict in favor of Beverly D. Harris, former vice president of the National City Bank of New York, in the marriage annulment suit brought by him against his wife, Eleanor Elaine Lee Harris, on charges that before their marriage she misrepresented her origin.

The jury after four hours and thirty-five minutes of deliberation, found for Mr. Harris on five of the six questions submitted to them, and for Mrs. Harris on the fifth question.

The fifth question related to an alleged separation contract entered into by Mr. and Mrs. Harris on May 7, 1923.

The verdict was given in the form of answers to questions that had been submitted to the jury by the appellate division. The findings of fact by the jury now will go to the special term of the supreme court where attorneys for both sides will present further arguments.

Made False Representations

The jury found that prior to her marriage Mrs. Harris had represented to her future husband that she was a member of the Lee family of Memphis, Tenn., that Eli Rayner, alleged Memphis gambler, was her uncle, and that Mrs. Hadie C. Harris was her aunt, and that she was a virtuous woman. All of these statements the jury found to be false.

Mr. Harris, the jury found, had relied and acted upon these representations. He did not know they were untrue prior to the execution of the second separation agreement, said court dated May 7, 1923.

The jury found, however, that Mr. Harris could have ascertained the truth or falsity of these representations "by the exercise of reasonable diligence prior to the second separation agreement."

Final Judgment Monday

Final judgment on Mr. Harris' annulment suit will come from the special term of the supreme court to which tonight's findings will be sent. This judgment will be found next Monday.

Mr. Harris charged him with defrauding him into marriage by representing herself as a member of the Lee family, owners of Mississippi steamships. He also charged that Eli Rayner, represented as her uncle, was a notorious Memphis gambler and that she was his mistress.

In her own defense Mrs. Harris maintained she was Rayner's illegitimate daughter and that before her marriage to Harris, the retired banker had learned all the facts of her origin.

500 Erie County People to Join In Wolf Hunt

SANDUSKY, OHIO, March 5.—It is expected that some 500 farmers and others will join in the big wolf hunt which Sheriff John B. Taylor will lead tomorrow morning in Western Erie county. Posses will form a hollow square about an area of 5,000 acres where wolves are reported to have killed sheep and lambs during the past three weeks. Previous hunts have failed to round up the wolves.

WHY GROW FAT?

Druggist Tells of Easy Pleasant Way to Keep Trim Attractive Figure Even at Middle Age

Thousands of women who have had a trim, stylish figure all their lives, begin to take on weight in early middle life. And because they have heard of "Fat and Forty"—and because foolish starvation diets, ridiculous exercises and certain medicines only seem to make their condition worse, they give up all hope and say, 'Oh, well, I rather be fat, any way.'

Fat that shows—Fat that comes and stays is not only cumbersome, but may prove dangerous, a decided disadvantage to your necessary activity and pleasures. So why stay that way?

No special exercises or diets! No dangerous or sickening medicines. Just a cooling, sparkling Aperient, pleasant to take—but quickly and noticeably effective.

Wurster Bros. or any good druggist can supply you with a large bottle of Wendell's Salts. Ambition Brand, for 90 cents and will return your money on the first bottle purchased if you are not more than satisfied.—Advertisement.

Is Claimed Congressmen Were Paid in Getting Paroles and Pardons for Prisoners; Senate Committee Abandons Inquiry.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—(By the A. P.)—President Coolidge today ordered an immediate grand jury investigation of charges that two members of congress had accepted bribes to obtain paroles and pardons for persons convicted of crime.

Instructions have been given acting Attorney General Seymour, it was announced at the White House, to "proceed with every diligence in the prosecution of the cases."

A grand jury is expected to be convened here shortly to go into the charges. Their identity has not been made known, even to congressional leaders, although it has been established that they are members of the house.

It also was disclosed today that while in Chicago last week Attorney General Daugherty appeared before the grand jury investigating veterans' bureau affairs, to submit evidence regarding the activities of two members of congress.

Coincident with an announcement today by the senate veterans' committee that it would pursue a hands off policy in the matter, Representative Garrett, the Democratic leader, introduced a resolution calling for the appointment of a house committee to establish whether the persons mentioned in the Chicago jury's report were members of the house and whether there was any ground for the charges against them.

Sent To Committee

The resolution went to the rules committee of which Mr. Garrett is a member. He announced he would press for action on it, although he did not desire to embarrass any investigation that might be conducted here by a grand jury.

Chairman Snell indicated that a few days probably would be permitted to elapse before the resolution was taken up by the committee.

Meanwhile, developments, he said, probably would clarify the situation and the committee would be able to determine what should be done under the circumstances.

In announcing the decision of the senate veterans' committee not to go into the charges involving the two house members, Chairman Reed declared that information furnished him showed the matter was one for prompt prosecution, not investigation.

Probe To Be Deliberate

Mr. Crim announced tonight that the investigation into charges against the two house members would be "deliberate", and that every effort would be made to ascertain the exact situation.

A section of the Chicago grand jury's report relating to the alleged activities of the two members of congress was made public by Mr. Crim, in part, as follows:

RHEUMATISM GONE TOO SAYS RUDOLF SCHORI

Feared He Would Be Crippled For Life, Was Forced To Quit Work For 15 Months — Tanlac Brought Relief.

"I don't know anything better. I could say for Tanlac than that I am still enjoying the good health it brought me six years ago," recently stated Rudolph Schori, 221 East Main St., Fort Wayne, Ind.

"While running a meat market in Worthington, Iowa, I got a case of rheumatism which I feared would cripple me for life. My arms were so stiff and painful I could hardly put my clothes on in the mornings. Shattered nerves, biliousness, headache and indigestion combined with the rheumatism got me down to where I had to lay off from the market for months.

"Well, it was at this time that I began taking Tanlac. Six bottles of the medicine put me in such fine shape that my customers were amazed and I often had to explain what had rebuilt my health and strength. Tanlac certainly made life worth living for me."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 35 million bottles sold.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Doly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth Ohio.

Dear Dolly—Since you have given others such good advice, I hope you will give me some, too. Dolly, I have been married for eight months and my husband has abused me ever since we have been married. He doesn't think any more of whipping me than he would a burglar. He goes out whenever and wherever he pleases and if I take a notion to go any place he raises wholly Ned. Now, Dolly, I don't believe I could ever go any place and stay, after I have been used to my own home. Now, Dolly, I wish you would tell me what to do to make my husband stay at home, behave himself and treat me better. He gets mad at me and won't speak until he just has to. Dolly, I stay at home and mind my own business and he will come in and pick a fight out of me. Dolly, please help me all you can.

—WORRIED WIFE.

I can't help you very much, but I would like to get hold of your husband and give him a good shaking. A cad like him does not deserve a good wife, or any kind of a wife. Unless you enjoy being beat up, you should have him arrested, or give him to understand that he will have to behave himself or leave. Don't be so easy, and don't sit in the house all the time just to please him. Go out whenever you have a chance, regardless of what he thinks about it.

Dear Dolly—How long are flags supposed to be flown at half mast in memory of President Wilson? Is it thirty days or is it a year?

—WANT-TO-KNOW.

The thirty-day period of official mourning for Woodrow Wilson ended at sundown on Monday evening.

Dear Dolly—I would like to know what to do about the cows and chickens, dogs and children that are running wild over lawns. I spent sixty perfectly good dollars in fixing up my lawn and my word you should see it now? Dolly, who could I report these nuisances to? Spring is coming on now and I want to keep our lawn looking decent if possible.

—TIMES READER.

Report them to the mayor or town marshall.

Dear Dolly—Is it popular to wear dark voile dresses now? Also tell me how to clean suede slippers.

—A READER.

It is all right to wear the voile dress if you haven't anything else, but if you have a serge, silk or crepe, I would advise you to save the voile until later on. You can buy a suede cleaner at any shoe store or have your slippers cleaned at the shoe-shining parlors.

Dear Dolly—Do you think a person who hasn't much education or book learning could learn music? I can read and write pretty good. Dolly, will a teacher come to your house and teach you or will you have to go to where they live?

—BLACK EYES.

If you have a talent for music you can learn to play without much of an education. Many children who are not very far advanced in their studies, can play the piano and various other instruments. Music teachers will come to your house or you can go to theirs, if more convenient.

Miss Dolly Wise—Will you please tell me if there is a correspondence Club for young girls? If so, please print the address and all details in your column.

—THANK YOU.

I have no record of the club you mentioned.

Thank You—You will have to call up the office of the concern and ask for the recipe they use in making the drink you mentioned, but that is no sign that you will get it, as they don't usually give out such information.

Dear Dolly—Will you please tell me what days January 16, 1907, and April 9, 1882, fell on?

—TESSIE.

The first date fell on Wednesday and the second on Sunday.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

THE FIDDLING FIDDLE

The Twins reached up and tugged at the big strings.

"Tuppence apiece!" cried the jolly fiddler at the fair. "Tuppence apiece, or three for a fipenny bit, to get in and hear the Fiddling Fiddle from Fairyland!"

And all the Beanstalk people followed him in wonder, carefully counting out their pennies that they might hear the wonderful fiddle that could play by itself.

"It's like all the other strange things that have happened in Beanstalk Land lately," said an old lady with a wag of her head. "Like the boots that walked alone, and the queer way Johnny Stout's mother's clock acted." And she passed in with all the others, for the ticketman said the fiddler was welcome to his tent.

When the tent was as full of Beanstalk people as it could hold (and the fiddler's pockets as full of money as they could hold), it was time to begin.

Nancy and Nick, away down inside of the hollow fiddle, could hear everything that was going on, but they kept well out of sight, you may be sure.

"Fairyland Fiddle, please quickly obey,
And show the good people how well you can play," cried the jolly fiddler, laying the bow on the table and putting the fiddle to his chin.

Instantly the Twins reached up from their hiding place and tugged at the big strings. Such a noise! But in spite of the fact that the tune wasn't anything to boast of, it did seem as though the fiddle was bewitched.

"Marvelous!" said one Beanstalk Lander.

"Amazing!" cried another.

"Most mysterious!" nodded another.

"The only thing," said still another one, "is that it's a most peculiar tune."

"Oh!" exclaimed the jolly fiddler. "That's because it is Fairyland music and much too fine for us to appreciate."

And so it went. And soon there wasn't a man in Beanstalk Land as rich as the poor fiddler.

"And now I am rich enough!" thought he, "so I shall turn my steps homeward and take these good fairy children back to the place I found them."

He bade goodby to the good folk at the fair and started down the road, playing a merry tune with his bow.

Pretty soon they met a beggar.

"I have so much and he has so little, I'll divide," said the jolly fiddler. So he gave the beggar all the tuppence pieces in one pocket. Then he went on.

By and by they met a cripple.

"I have so much and he has so little, I'll divide again," said the jolly fiddler. So he gave him all in the other pocket.

Next he met a chimney-sweep. "Poor soul, he looks so poor," said the fiddler. "I'll divide." And he gave him all he had left.

Then he set the Twins gently on the ground and said goodby.

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES — THE FRI ENDLY HERMIT

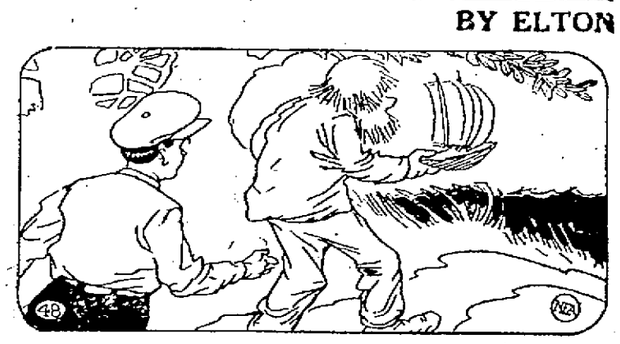

BY ELTON

Jack was very interested as the hermit hacked a small limb from a tree. "Now," said the whittler, as he sat down on a log, "it's easy to make things with a knife if you take your time." And while he talked he proceeded to shape out the bottom of a small sail boat.

Chip by chip went flying into the air as the hermit wielded his knife. Soon the little sail boat took real shape and Jack then took out his own knife and started making the sail masts. By the time the boat was carved out the masts were ready and the hermit stuck them into place.

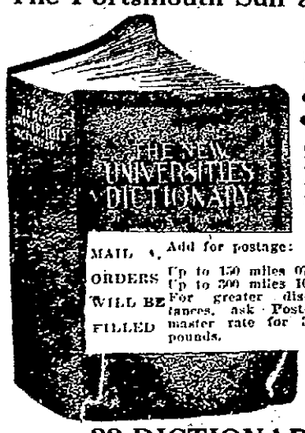

"Quite a fine boat!" laughed the hermit as he held it up in his hand. Then he took out a handkerchief, ripped it in two pieces and made two very fine sails. "She's ready now," said the old man, and with that he led the way to the water and set the boat afloat. (Continued.)

FORTUNE'S FOOL

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Colonel Holles, soldier and adventurer, returns to England, his native land, when war with Holland is declared. It is dangerous for Holles to secure a commission in the English army because the name of Randal Holles, father of the colonel, is on the warrant for the execution of the late king.

The dreaded plague is spreading rapidly in London. Afriend of the colonel, named Tucker, is arrested for plotting against the government. Because Holles has been seen in Tucker's company, a warrant is out for his arrest.

His Grace of Buckingham rents a house in Knight Ryder street and plots to have Sylvia Farquharson, actress, abducted and carried there. Buckingham asks Colonel Holles to abduct Sylvia and take her to this house for him. At first the colonel refuses.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"Perhaps not. But a man standing in the shadow of the gallows should not be over-fastidious."

The flush perished in the Colonel's face; the haunting fear returned to his eyes. The Duke, seeing him thus suddenly stricken by that grim reminder, was moved to sudden laughter.

"It seems you have to realize, Colonel Holles, that there is no music without frets. You resent that I should ask a trifling service of you when in return I am offering to make your fortune. For that is what I am offering. You come as opportunely to my need as to your own. Serve me as I require, and I pledge my word that I shall not neglect you."

"But this . . . this . . ." faltered. "A task for bullies, for jackals."

The Duke shrugged. "Damme! Why trouble to define it?" Then he changed his tone again. "The choice is yours. Fortune makes the offer: gold on the one hand; hemp on the other. I do not press either upon you."

Holles was torn between fear and honor.

"I'll go my ways, I think," he said heavily, and half turned as if to depart.

"You know whither it leads?" came the Duke's warning voice.

In silence Holles bowed, and made his way to the door with dragging feet hope's last bubble pricked.

And then the Duke's voice arrested him again.

"Holles', you are a foil."

"I have long known it. I was a fool when I saved your life, and you pay me as a fool should be paid."

"You pay yourself." And of your own choice you do so in fool's coin."

Seeing him standing arrested there, still hesitating, the Duke approached him. His grace's need, as you know, was very urgent. It was no overstatement that Holles' coming had been opportune. Unless he could make of Holles the tool that he required so sorely, where should he find another? He set a friendly hand upon the Colonel's shoulder.

And whilst the Duke now talked persuasively, tempting him with promises on the one hand and intimidating him with a picture of what must otherwise happen on the other, the Colonel's own tormented mind was reconsidering.

Were his hands really so clean, his life so blameless, his honor so untarnished, that he must boggle at this vileness, and boggle at it to the extent of allowing them to stretch his neck and disembowel him sooner than perform it? And what was this vileness when all was said? A baggage of the theatre, a trull of an actress, had played upon the Duke that she might make the greater profit out of him in the end. The Duke, wearied of her tricks and wiles, desired to cut the game short. Thus the Duke represented the situation. And what cause had Holles to assume that it was other than a true representation? The girl was an actress and therefore, it followed, wanton. The puritanical contempt of the playhouse and its denizens—heritage of his Commonwealth days—left him no doubt upon that score. If she were a lady of quality, a woman of virtue, the thing would be different. Then, indeed, to be a party to such an act were a wickedness unthinkable, a thing sooner than which he would, indeed, suffer death. But where was the vileness here, since the object itself was vile? Against what, then, really, did this thing offend? Against himself; against his soldier's dignity. The act required of him was one proper to a hired bully. It was ignoble. But was hanging less ignoble? Was he to let them put a rope about his neck and the brand of the gallows on his name out of tenderness for a baggage of the theatre whom he did not even know?

Buckingham was right. He was a fool. All his life he had been a fool, scrupulous in trifles, negligent in the greater things. And now upon the most trifling scruple of all he would fitly sacrifice his life.

"Your grace," he said hoarsely, "I am your man."

CHAPTER XVI.

The Sedan-Chair.

His Grace behaved generously, and at the same time with a prudence which reveals the alert and calculating mind of this gifted man, who might have been great had he been less of a voluptuary.

He attended with Holles before the Justices early on the morrow, announcing himself able to confirm out of his own knowledge the truth of the account which the Colonel gave of his relations with the attainted Tucker. More was not needed. The sycophantic court bent the knee before this great gentleman who enjoyed the close friendship of the King.

Thus at the outset was Holles delivered from his worst peril. Next he was informed that, since service of any distinction in England was almost out of the question for his father's son, Buckingham would supply him with letters to several high-placed friends of his own in France, where a capable soldier well recommended need never lack employment.

From attendance before the Justices, Colonel Holles repaired straight to Fenchurch street to conclude arrangements with the owner of the house in Knight Ryder street. Of this he now acquired the tenancy in his own name for the term of one year. The merchant did not trouble to conceal the fact that he regarded Colonel Holles crazy to desire to take up his residence in an infected city from which all who were able were making haste to remove themselves. Had the Colonel needed a reminder of it, he had it in the fact that he was constrained to go on foot, not only because hackney-coaches were now rare, but because the use of them was considered highly imprudent, since so many had been used by infected persons. Doors smeared with the red cross and guarded by watchmen were becoming commonplaces, and the comparatively few people met in the streets who still sought to maintain the normal tenor and business of their lives moved with the listlessness of despondency or else with the watchfulness of hunted creatures. The pungent smell of electuaries, and particularly of comphor, was wafted to the Colonel's nostrils from the person of almost every human he met.

He may have thought again that—as he had already admirably expressed it—Buckingham was led by his passion like a blind man by his dog, to come thrusting himself at such a time into the City, and he may have taken satisfaction in the thought that he, himself, so soon as this business should be accomplished, was to shake the poisonous dust of London from his feet.

Matters concluded with the merchant, the Colonel went to take possession of the house, and he installed there two of the four French lackeys the Duke had lent him for myrmidons.

After that there was little to do but wait until Saturday. That evening, however, and the next, the Colonel repaired to Lincoln's Inn to watch from a safe distance Miss Farquharson's departure from the theatre, and so inform himself precisely of her habits in the matter. On both occasions she came forth at the same time—a few minutes after seven, and entered her waiting sedan-chair, in which she was borne away.

On Friday evening Holles went again, at six o'clock, and he had been waiting half an hour before the chair that was to convey her home made its appearance. It was the same chair as before and borne by the same men.

Holles lounged forward to engage them in talk. Of set purpose and despite the warm weather, he had donned a well-worn leather jerkin to cover and conceal his fairly presentable coat.

He slouched toward the chairmen, pulling at a clay pipe, a man with time on his hands. And they, sitting on the shafts of the chair—one on each side, so as to balance each other—were nothing loath to have the tedium of their waiting beguilded by the thrasonical garrulousness his appearance led them to expect.

WITH ARMS LINKED, THE THREE SET A COURSE FOR THE ALE-HOUSE.

He did not disappoint them. He talked of the pestilence and of the war, and of the favoritism practiced at Court, which bestowed commands upon all manner of incompetent fops and kept a hardened and stout old soldier like himself cooling his heels in London's plague-ridden streets.

On the following evening—which was that of Saturday—you behold him there again, at about the same hour, joyously hailed by Miss Farquharson's chairmen in a manner impudently blending greeting with derision.

They took the Colonel between them, and with arms linked the three set a course for the little alehouse at the corner of Portugal Row. The Colonel was more garrulous than ever, and very confidential. He had met a friend, he insisted upon informing them—an old brother-in-arms who had come upon fortunate days ,from whom he had succeeded in borrowing a good round sum.

Into the alehouse they rolled, to be skillfully piloted by the Colonel into a quiet corner well away from the windows and the light. He called noisily, tipsily, for the landlady, banging the table with the hilt of his sword. And when she made her appearance, he silenced her protests by his order.

"Three pints of Canary stiffly laced with brandy."

The wine was brought, and the facetious pair swilled it greedily, whereafter they praised it, with rolling of eyes and resounding lip-smackings; they even subdued their raillery of the provider of this nectar.

IF RHEUMATIC BEGIN ON SALTS

Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat no sweets of any kind for a while, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of Jad Salts occasionally to help keep down uric and toxic acids.

Rheumatism is caused by poison toxins, called acids, which are generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this poison, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts, put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidity, remove body waste also to stimulate the kidneys, thus helping to rid the blood of these rheumatic poisons.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.—Advertisement.

Last Chance to Enter Legion Tourney

Entries for the American Legion Amateur Boxing Tournament, under the direction of the 40 and 8 closed Monday, March 3rd, at 6 p. m., with a total of 40 aspirants. The weights are of a sufficient variety to give all a run for their money, ranging from 97 to 145 lbs. There are a few gaps in the entry list and as the rules called for only a five-pound weight allowance it was decided to hold the entries open a few days longer. A few light weight scrappers around one hundred pounds would help a great deal.

All contestants must pass a rigid physical examination before their entry will be approved. Wednesday, March 5th, has been set as the date for all contestants to gather at the Legion hall for weighing in and physical examination.

In view of the fact that there are so many entries, and as the committee desires that no one forget twice in one evening it has been decided that March 17th be added to the days on which the tournament will be held. This makes a total of three days and the program has been arranged on this manner. Thursday, March 13th, preliminary rounds. Friday, March 14, Semi-finals, and Saturday, March 15, as the big night, when the winners of the semi-finals will battle for the gold watches.

Foreign Obligations To Be Collected, Says Kearns

Congressman Charles C. Kearns, in a recent letter to Alan N. Jordan of this city, outlined his stand on the question of the foreign debt to the United States, replying to Mr. Jordan's message urging that congress insist upon payment of the eleven billion dollars owed to this country. This is half as great as the debt of the United States, which the Harding and Coolidge administration has reduced by four billion dollars. Mr. Jordan says.

In his letter, Congressman Kearns says: "I quite agree with you and think that the foreign obligations will for the most part be collected. I am quite sure the congress will not, by legislation, relieve any country of its debt to the United States. I am hoping that these matters can all be settled, and they will be settled as best they can be, and in a way that I think will be pleasing to the majority of the American people."

ACCUSE OHIOAN OF DODGING $440,276 IN INCOME TAXES

CLEVELAND, March 5.—(By the A. P.)—A federal warrant charging that Charles J. Castle, 60, defrauded the government of $440,276 by failing to pay income taxes on large amount of income yielding real estate and other property was issued here late today.

The charge involves the largest amount of taxes of any action brought in the Cleveland district of the federal court since the present income tax law went into effect, according to authorities.

United States Attorney A. E. Bernstein said that Castle failed voluntarily to make out an income tax declaration from 1913 until the present time. Of the $440,276, he said, $343,125 is the actual tax and the remainder penalties for three years from 1920, the penalties from 1913 until 1920 having been paid.

At any rate Captain Frank Hurley, explorer, came back from New Guinea and offers Mr. Whoozis as a member of "The Lost Tribe," a new fraternity he discovered.

He doesn't swear Whoozis is the missing link, and you can use your own judgment.

Hurley says these strange people, whom white men never saw before resemble Babylonians, which would convince a blind man Babylonians never won Atlantic City Beauty Pageants.

Equitable Passes $3,400,000 Mark

The 64th Annual Statement of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States gives evidence of the company's continued progress. The new insurance written in 1923 totaled $584,700,000, not including over $44,000,000 of group insurance. The outstanding insurance on Dec. 31st exceeded $3,400,000,000. Upwards of $100,000,000 was disbursed to policy-holders and beneficiaries during the year in death claims, matured endowments, dividends, annuities and other payments, making a total return of $1,078,967,00 to policyholders since organization. Nearly $30,000,000 has been set aside for dividends to policyholders in 1924. A large increase was made in the issue of policies payable on the monthly income plan, as well as those taken to protect business interests and to provide for inheritance taxes. Over 99 percent of the domestic death claims were paid within 24 hours after receipt of due proofs of death. The statement calls attention to the broad scope of Equitable service and to the many insurance needs covered by the company's wide range of policies.

Portsmouth Has Grown So Rapidly that its electric light, power and street railway systems have had difficulty in keeping pace with the increased demands for service.

Some time ago, the former owners of this property started in to double the power plant capacity, but unavoidable delays have retarded the completion of this work. While the present management is making every effort to complete it, several weeks will be required to finish the installation of the new turbine driven electric generator.

In the meantime, we must, of course, depend on the two present generators. One of these has a capacity of 1500 K. W., the other 3000 K. W. The new machine now being installed is of 5000 K. W. capacity.

At no time during the past several months has the load on the power plant been small enough to be carried on the 1500 K. W. machine.

Consequently the 3000 K. W. machine must be run constantly day and night, being helped out by the smaller machine during the periods of heavy load.

While we do not anticipate any trouble, we realize that the failure of either one of these present generators would seriously cripple our service until repairs could be made.

We do not tell you this to alarm you but rather to let you know that we realize the situation and are making every effort to prevent any interruption of service and are rushing the installation of the new generator.

If, in spite of our efforts, something should happen to temporarily cripple the service, you may rest assured that nothing will be left undone to remedy the trouble in the shortest possible time.

Furthermore we wish to assure you that, in keeping with our aim to furnish adequate and dependable service, we are now considering plans for still further increasing our capacity. We realize that, if Portsmouth is to grow and prosper as it should, our electric service must not lag behind.

Is Winter Time Your Backache Time?

Does Your Back Foretell Every Change of the Wether? Do You Feel Old and Stiff and Suffer Sharp, Rheumatic Pains? Then Look to Your Kidneys!

DOES every cold, chill or attack of grip leave you lame, stiff and achy?

Are you nervous and depressed; feel tired, worn-out and miserable? Does your back throb and ache until it seems you just can't keep going another day?

Then look to your kidneys! Grip, colds and chills throw a heavy strain on the kidneys. They overload the blood with poisons and impurities that the kidneys have to filter off. The kidneys are apt to weaken under this rush of new work; become congested and inflamed.

It's little wonder, then, that every cold finds many folks suffering with torturing backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness and annoying kidney irregularities.

If this is the case with you, don't risk neglect! Help your weakened kidneys with a stimulant diuretic. Begin using Doan's Pills. Doan's have helped thousands. Local users testfiy to their worth. Ask your neighbor.

"Use Doan's," Say These Portsmouth Folks:

Lonzo Kirkindoll, prop. second hand store, 123 Jefferson St., says: "I couldn't stoop to lift the least thing without having a sharp, knife-like pain through my back. When I did stoop I could hardly straighten again, my back was so weak, I felt worn out and was easily tired. My kidneys did not act right and the secretions caused a scalding sensation. I procured Doan's Pills at Brandel's Drug Store and the trouble left me. Doan's cured me."

Mrs. D. Hoobing, 210 2nd St., says: "I had a dull, throbbing pain in my back. After a day's work my back was tired and pained terribly. It was hard to rise after stooping and my kidneys did not act right. I was dizzy and had severe headaches. Doan's Pills completely cured me of kidney trouble." (Statement given August 9th, 1917).

Nearly four years later, Mrs. Hoobing said: "Doan's cured me and I am glad to recommend them as I did before."

An Exceptional Sale of Linen Table Cloths and Napkins at $4.95

Funny thing about this sale. Yesterday we received a large shipment—so large that we know it won't be sold out in a day, and we feel safe in telling you that we will have enough to last at least a day or two after this announcement appears. It's doubtful if we can secure any more.

No wonder they go so fast. They are all pure linen, heavy weight, beautiful patterns and are 70x88. inches in size. Napkins to match are full 19 inches in size.

Church Work Progressing; Committee Grateful

Happiness beyond expression is the feeling of members of Pleasant Green Baptist church after such wonderful success in the financial drive which has been in progress for the past month. No one ever dreamed of a people contributing so liberally to a cause as members and friends have done in this campaign. While next Sunday closes our drive, we are prompted at this time to express our gratitude to our numerous friends who have helped us so far and with what we got this week from several [illegible].

Contracts have been let for the completion of our new edifice and we are hopeful of dedicating our church at least a month sooner than we had anticipated. Next Sunday we hope to be able to give the members and friends a complete statement of all work and cost up to the present as well as a list of the contributors.

All contractors will be on the job from now until we get the keys. R. L. Hopkins is doing the carpenter work. Walters Plumbing Co. have partly completed the plumbing and wiring, and H. B. McGlone will begin plastering this week.

Surely the marvelous results attained have been divinely guided thru the instrumentality of Rev. B. R. Reed, pastor, whose life has been so charged with the Spirit of God that nothing but victory can be foreseen in all efforts put forth for Kingdom building. Faith we have, Hope is our bivouac and Charity our watchword upon which three great principles we have overcome and are able to rejoice in the goodness of God.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflammed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Adv.

NO TROUBLE WHEN BABY CAME

Mrs. Crossan Gives Credit to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mrs. Dakan Also Tells What This Medicine Does

St. Joseph, Missouri.—"I heard so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I decided to try it as I had had such a hard time with my first child. I took nine bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I never felt better in my life than the day my baby girl was born. I will be glad to tell what it will do, to any woman who will let me know her address."—Mrs. ROSA DAKAN, 2227 S. 11th St., St. Joseph, Missouri.

Back To Normal Health

New Orleans, La.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound while I was carrying my child and I must praise it highly because I never suffered one day during that time and could do all my housework and had a very easy confinement. I am still taking the Vegetable Compound because I have a weakness due to working around the house too soon after my baby was born. But thanks again to the Vegetable Compound I am getting back to normal health once more. I advise any woman to take it."—Mrs. A. METN, JR., 2019 Touro St., New Orleans, Louisiana.

Not A Bit of Trouble

Wilmington, Delaware.—"I was nervous and weak and not at all regular. I worked in a factory at the time and could not work very much. I was sick over a year, then a friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I started to pick up as soon as I began taking it. Then I took it again before my first baby was born and I never had a bit of trouble. I recommend it highly."—Mrs. JANE CROSSAN, 612 Pine St., Wilmington, Delaware.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped many other women just as it has helped Mrs. Dakan, Mrs. Meyn and Mrs. Crossan.

Consider the statements of these women. They give you the benefit of their actual experience with the Vegetable Compound.

A nation wide canvass of women purchasers of the Vegetable Compound reports that 98 out of every 100 have been benefited by its use.

This is a remarkable record and proves the dependability of the medicine for the relief of the troubles women often have.

For weak and run-down conditions so common after child-birth it is well adapted. It strengthens and tones up the system and restores normal health.

The Vegetable Compound contains no harmful drugs or narcotics and can be taken in safety by the nursing mother. For sale by druggists everywhere.

Coolidge

Mr. Coolidge's letter was written in reply to resolutions passed by the Philippine legislature asking for independence and attacking General Wood. The president's views are expected to have weight in house consideration of a bill providing for independence, recently reported by the Insular Committee. This measure, committee members say, was brought in merely to place the question squarely before the house itself for discussion.

"The government of the United States," the president wrote, "would not feel that it had performed its full duty by the Filipino people or discharged all of its obligations to civilization if it should yield at this time to your aspirations for national independence."

The government is convinced, the president said, that General Wood, who was attacked in the resolutions of the Philippine legislative body, had intended "to act and has acted within the scope of his proper and constitutional authority."

"Thus convinced," he continued, "it is determined to sustain him; and its purpose will be to encourage the broadest and most intelligent co-operation of the Filipino people in this policy.

"Looking at the whole situation fairly and in an impartial way one can not but feel the Filipino people can not co-operate in the support and encouragement as good government as has been afforded under Governor General Wood, their failure will be rather a testimony of unpreparedness for the full obligations of citizenship, than evidence of rather patriotic preparedness to advance their country."

Donahey

these schools already have been closed.

The general assembly was directly charged by Governor Donahey with chief responsibility for the financial plight of school districts

The governor pointed out in his letter to the attorney general that the state auditor had permitted disbursements of $525,865.27 in excess of legislative appropriations for weak school districts under the biennium, 1921 to 1923, and that the last legislature by appropriating only $2,000,000 for such state aid or $750,000 less than the appropriation.

This reduction in the appropriation together with the enactment of a law over his veto which restricted state aid to districts in which the tax value of property was less than $4,000 for each enumerated youth.

"In 150 school districts, now hard pressed, a levy of at least three mills could have been made in addition to the present levies. Therefore, they are not weak school districts under the law. Had they voted these levies they would have provided sufficient funds to carry on their schools. Would it be right to ask the people of the state to provide funds for districts which failed or refused to provide sufficient funds for themselves by voting additional levies permitted by law?" the governor asked.

The governor also asserted that there is not a surplus of $22,000,000 now in the state treasury as suggested by Attorney General Crabbe, the executive asserting the $22,000,000 is only a cash balance against which obligations in excess of $30,000,000 are outstanding.

Other than legislative blame for financial condition of schools, the governor declared some cases are the result of "extravagance, improper, unbusinesslike and sometimes illegal budgeting and failure to make sufficient levies permissible under existing laws.

"Therefore, inasmuch as the present financial difficulties of schools are due to errors, oversights or deliberate actions of the general assembly, I am transmitting your telegram and my reply to the joint committee appointed by the general assembly for the purpose of terminating its five minute recess any time it chooses."

Dry Agents

"It was left for the attorney general who is supposed to be in favor of prohibition enforcement and whose duty it is to aid in such enforcement to find and render this means of escape for the bootlegger," McDonald declared.

Commissioner McDonald also criticized the attorney general for his declaration that Don V. Parker, former prohibition commissioner, had not employed the "card" men. McDonald said he had inherited the "card" men system from his predecessor and named a number of such men whom he declared records show had been employed as such by former Commissioner Parker.

COLUMBUS, O., March 5.—(By the Associated Press) — Anti-Saloon League officials here and at Westerville refused to make any statements today in regard to the official ruling of Attorney General Crabbe, who has ruled out of prohibition enforcement the "card agents."

Dr. P. A. Baker, national superintendent, who is ill at his residence in Westerville, refused to make a statement or say whether the Anti-Saloon League contemplated any legal action or would contest the ruling of the attorney general.

Force Cut To Twenty

Under the attorney general's ruling, Commissioner McDonald's force is cut to twenty regular inspectors who are on straight salaries paid by the state. Under the law he may appoint temporary inspectors at salaries of not to exceed $10 per day. The employment of even temporary inspectors is limited as the legislature appropriated only $5,000 a year for this purpose.

The "card" men were paid from fines and fees collected by the courts under whose jurisdiction they acted. Their salaries, therefore, were determined by the number of convictions they obtained and the amount of fine assessed and collected. That in many instances, "card" inspectors received large annual salaries has been evidenced by reports of the state buran of accounting in examination of the various justices and village mayor's courts.

Is Well Paid

At Milford, one such "card" inspector was found to have received approximately $25,000 as his share of fines and costs collected. Two regular prohibition officers resigned their regular positions and took out cards to operate about Columbus, Crabbe said.

The attorney general held that these "card" men ceased to be state officers when they took their cases to the various justices and village mayors courts and accepted a percentage of the fines and fees collected. He held they could not be officers of the state and village at the same time. In holding the two positions incompatible, Crabbe cites an opinion of former Attorney General U. Grant Denman.

Pointing out that temporary inspectors may be employed by Prohibition Commissioner McDonald and paid a stipulated salary, the attorney general says:

"While every honest effort must be made to enforce the prohibition law, it is very dangerous to break one law to enforce another, and in my judgment, the case of prohibition will greatly suffer by such a policy." He then points out that the Miller law does not relieve local officials from the responsibility of enforcing prohibition, and concludes:

MAY MEAN NEW DEPOT FOR CITY

Portsmouth's long cherished dream of a real depot may soon be realized. Information reached division headquarters of the N. and W. late this afternoon that the $12,000,000 the N. and W. seeks to spend on improvements as noted in another column, in all probability will include a depot for Portsmouth, one that would be a credit to the city and one of the finest along the entire N. and W. system.

Officials said they had nothing to divulge at present, but expressed the belief that the appropriation may mean a new depot for this city.

B. and L. Assured For the West End

At the regular meting of the West End Improvement Association last night, it was stated that steps taken to secure a Building and Loan Association for that section were progressing very satisfactorily. One-third of the necessary $25,000 to open a B. and L. had been voluntarily subscribed and a committee composed of J. W. Carroll, Dr. Joseph Gill, Wm. Knight, F. W. Klingman, and F. B. Winter had been named to raise the rest of the money.

A committee consisting of Charles Sommer, H. Herdman and J. W. Carroll was named to raise funds to finance the Improvement Association.

Local Bowler Takes Lead In Singles In A.B.C. Tournament

CHICAGO, March 5.—A Portsmouth man, Joe Bruno, wrote his name high among the achievements of the bowlers participating in the National Bowling Tournament, when at the conclusion of his singles, he had totaled 1980 pins for first place in the all-events, displacing F. J. Quinliven of Chicago, who had garnered a total of 1949. The Portsmouth roller may not long remain in the coveted position, but he is there at this time, and while he will possibly be misplaced, he is certain to win a nice slice of the prize money, in addition to the fame he has brought to his adopted city. Bruno averaged 200 for his nine games, an expert mark.

Incidentally, a Portsmouth pair, Bruno and Ed. V. Leach, occupied the limelight for a short while in their doubles. Word was flashed over the country that they had tied for third place with a score of 1222. However, a check-up showed they had made but 1159—a fair score and good for some of the money. Both Bruno and Leach did fine work in their singles, the former getting 612, while Leach came through with 609. Leach was only a few pins short of the 1800 mark, getting 561 in his five men, 609 in his singles and 581 in his two-men event.

The other Portsmouth players did nothing worthy of headlines. However, they were well pleased with the showing of their comrades and forgot all about their own individual efforts when it was apparent Bruno and Leach were going to ge twell up in the scoring.

The Portsmouth bowlers left for home last night and were due to arrive in the Peerless City Wednesday noon. The scores:

President Expects to Declare Soon Increase in Duties On Wheat Products

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 5.—(By the Associated Press)—The Tariff Commission today delivered to President Coolidge a report on its wheat inquiry and the president is expected soon to proclaim an increase in the present duties on wheat and wheat products.

It has been indicated that the commission's findings warranted such an increase but Chairman Marvin and other members of the committee declined to discuss any phase of the report.

Submission of the report had been held up for two weeks by a row in the commission as to its exact form. The president had urged several times that action be expedited.

Rev. W. E. Smith Talks to Kiwanians

Dr. Walter E. Smith, pastor of Trinity Methodist church, entertained the members of the Kiwanis Club at the noon-day luncheon, Wednesday, with one of the most interesting talks in the annals of the club. Dr. Smith, who is perfectly at home under the environment of men, kept the members keyed up during his entire address. He told stories that are all the better because of their rich embellishments—good, wholesome stories that had the necessary fun punch. Dr. Smith believes that all normal men need a certain amount of fun and told them to go after it even if they had to rob somebody's hen roost. He will be welcomed back any time—the Kiwanian latch string is always hanging on the outside of the door for the learned and cultured divine.

President Frank Appel presided and as usual the meeting was full of zip and go. However, he called upon H. Glen Duis, the efficient secretary, to chide the members concerning the attendance contest that is going on between the Kiwanian clubs of the United States and Canada.

Hoping that a stunt meeting will prove an inspiration, a committee was named to pull off "stunt" day next Wednesday. The committee consists of Dr. Tatje, F. W. Sheridan, Paul Williams, Si Straus and J. E. Rickey. The committee will meet at the offcie of the Paul G. Williams Construction Co., Masonic Temple, on Friday night at 8 o'clock, in order to map out a program.

McDermott Is Excited Over Fight In Which Village Minister Was Prinicipal

Citizens of McDermott are busy discussing various phases of a fight in which Albert Crawford and Rev. R. L. Holland, pastor of the Methodist church there, figured yesterday and which caused much excitement in the town. The personal encounter followed on the heels of a heated dispute between the men over an alleged promise said to have been made by Crawford to gravel a runway leading to the pastor's garage where both housed their automobiles. When Crawford went to the garage after his belongings, according to eye witnesses, Holland grabbed him by the arm and Crawford is said to have then hit the minister, knocking him into a chicken yard adjoining the garage. This ended hostilities and the incident from all indications is closed as no charges have been filed.

Crawford is employed at the N. & W. shops here and lives in McDermott.

Mere Man Is Resenting Women's Invasion of Barber Shop--The Reason Is Very Obvious

(Sydney Strange)

Does man's prestige as lord of creation depend upon his clothes?

That question has been puzzling us ever since we were in a barber shop the other day and watched a dignified gentleman hang up his dignity with his collar and tie and become a pink and parboiled mummy swathed in steaming Turkish towels.

Years and years ago, when we were a little girl our mamma always jerked us past the barber shops. Now we just walk brazenly in, climb into a chair, say "Shingle trim, please," and look around to see who has the latest number of the Police Gazette. And the men, blessem, don't like us in their barber shops.

We don't blame 'em. It must be an awful blow to a gay blade who is being shaved and steamed and creamed and massaged and perfumed in order to enhance a fair lady-love whom he is taking to the movies that night, to emerge from his towel wrappings and find that that same fair lady has been watching the entire process from the next chair. Who could feel any vast respect for a smudge of a nose emerging from foamy layers of lather?

No it's not the suffrage amendment nor the Women's Party that will bring about the equality of the sexes. It's the women's invasion of the barber shops. We see the lords of creation as they really are and their power is beginning to wane.

Meeting

My Damon was the first to wake
The gentle flame that cannot die:
My Damon is the last to take
The faithful bosom's softest sigh:
The life between is nothing worth,
O cast it from thy thought away!
Think of the day that gave it birth,
And this its sweet returning day.

Buried be all that has been done,
Or say that naught be done amiss;
For who the dangerous path can shun
In such bewildering world as this?
But love can every fault forgive,
Or with a tender look reprove:
And now let naught in memory live
But that we meet and that we love.

51 Percent of High School Grads Find Way to College

STATE COLLEGE, PA., March 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Fifty-one per cent of High School graduates in the United States find their way to college, according to a report prepared today on higher educational statistics by A. H. Espenshade, until recently registrar at the Pennsylvania State College. The figures showed a few less than half a million students were attending colleges and professional schools in 1920-21. New York State leads with 55,130 and Pennsylvania is second with 36,262. Delaware has the least number of students, 402.

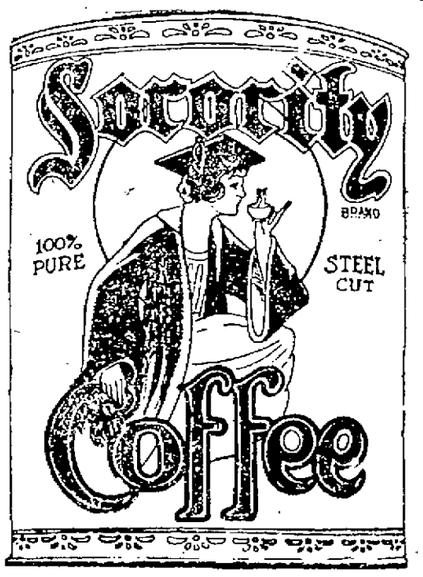

The colleges in six states enroll almost half of the entire number of American college students. These are New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, Massachusetts and California, where colleges have a total of 201,145 students.

Michigan's "Hiram Johnston" Dead

BAY CITY, MICH., March 5.—(By the Associated Press)—"Hiram Johnston" is dead. He was buried in Oak Ridge Cemetery here last July.

Thus, further confusion is added to the Michigan presidential primary election of April 7, next, at which the name of "Hiram Johnston" was to have appeared in the Republican column together with the names of Senator Hiram W. Johnson, of California, President Calvin Coolidge and William G. Simpson, of Detroit.

Johnston's name was ordered stricken from the ballot yesterday by Secretary of State Charles Deland upon receipt of a letter purporting to come from "Hiram Johnston" of Zilwaukee township. The letter was a scrawled sentence asking simply that his name be withdrawn. It was dated "Milburne, Mich., and was presented to the secretary of state by John Baird, state conservation commission whose home is at Zilwaukee. The letter bore no postmark. "Milburne" is not listed in post office guides.

The correct name of the man who died last July as given on the records is Martin Hiram Johnston. He was better known as "Paddy" Johnston. He lived in a house boat on the Saginaw river and was employed as a watchman by the North American Chemical Company of this city.

Says Hiram Not Dead But Lives In Swamp

LANSING, MICH., March 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Any one who doubts the existence of the "Hiram Johnston" whose name was certified for the Michigan presidential primary election and then ordered stricken from the ballot may have visual proof that he lives, by accompanying John Baird, state conservation commissioner, into the swamps of Zilwaukee township next Saturday.

Baird hurled this challenge to the skeptics today almost at the same time that newspaper men learned that a "Hiram Johnston" who lived in the same neighborhood as Baird's "Zilwaukee Hiram" died last July and is buried in a Bay City cemetery.

Baird's offer to newspaper men is this:

"Be at my marm in Zilwaukee at 10 sharp tomorrow morning," he said, "and be sure to wear your hunting clothes. It is six miles from my place to where Johnston lives and there is no road. We will walk through swamp land most of the way. Inasmuch as I generally take a zig-zag course, we probably will travel a lot more than six miles before we find the man we are looking for."

Baird today said he filed the Johnston petition because "I wanted to show that the Michigan presidential preferential primary law is a joke."

Johnston consented to "run", Baird said, saying it would be "fun to see my name in the papers."

"Zilwaukee Hiram" made Baird promise, the commissioner said, that he would have to make no speeches.

SOCIETY

Mrs. Edward Nagel opened her lovely home on Grant street to the members of the Shawnee Bridge Club on Tuesday afternoon and evening when they assembled there for their regular games. The rooms were beautifully decorated with spring flowers and ferns and the eight members of the club played bridge until six o'clock, when Mrs. Roscoe Henderson was awarded the first prize for high score and Mrs. James Kelley was given the consolation favor. Miss Mary Buckley received the guest favor.

The members were then invited into the dining-room, where they were served with a beautifully appointed chicken dinner. The table was decorated with spring flowers and lighted tapers and places were laid for Mrs. James Kelley, Mrs. Roscoe Henderson, Mrs. R. K. Smith, Mrs. Edward Nagel, Misses Bea Donahoe, Hannah Donahoe, Mayme McQuaide, Katherine Conroy and Miss Mary Buckley.

After the dinner the members again took their places at the card tables and another series of games were enjoyed. The high score prize was awarded to Miss Bea Donahoe, and the consolation favor was given to Miss Mary Buckley of Maysville, Ky., who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Roscoe Henderson. The club members adjourned at a late hour until after Easter.

Mrs. Harry McNeer of Kinney's Lane, delightfully entertained the members of the Loyal Helpers of the First Christian church.

There was a large number of members present and the meeting proved to be one of the best of the year. After the business session a radio concert was enjoyed, after which a tempting refreshment course was served by Mrs. McNeer assisted by Mrs. Clifford Rheinhart.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Sheaman of the National Millinery Store, have returned from a several weeks visit with relatives in New York City.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Emma Knowles on Findlay street.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the United Brethren church will meet at the church Friday afternoon at 2:30 to observe the Day of Prayer for Missions. All members are urged to be present.

Mrs. James M. Williams had charge of the Devotionals, the subject of the lesson being "Stewardship." Twenty-seven members and one visitor were present.

Plans were made for the celebration of "Founders' Day," to be held at Trinity church on March 20th with all the societies of the Portsmouth district uniting. An invitation was extended to the members and all urged to attend.

One member was reported on the sick list, and the following members were added to the society, Mrs. J. W. Sohner, Mrs. Mae Hazelbaker, Mrs. C. S. Curnutte. Plans were made for a "Thank Offering" sermon by Rev. W. H. Smith on March 30th.

Shiping Board Building Up Permanent Merchant Marine

NEW YORK, March 5.—(By the Associated Press) — The Shipping Board has taken a long step toward building up a permanent merchant marine by its certification to the Interstate commerce Commission that sufficient tonnage exists to warrant the placing in effect of Section 28 of the Merchant Marine Act, E. C. Plummer, vice chairman of the board, declared in an address today before the Propellor Club of the Port of New York.

Mr. Plummer explained that the board's action was taken in accordance with provision of the act and was not an aggressive move on its part. He disputed claims that American tonnage was inadequate and that application of the preferential rate clause would disrupt the railroad rate structure, asserting they were made in "ignorance" of the facts.

"If an exporter prefers to use a foreign ship, that is his privilege. The only changed condition produced by the release of this law is that if his through shipments are handled by American vessels he gets a lower railroad rate for such goods, when they are being brought from the interior to the seaboard or are being carried from the seaboard to interior points than he can get if he patronizes foreign ships."

Some United States ports already have export and import rates, said Mr. Plummer, and all that is necessary to put all ports of the country on a basis of equality under Section 28 is "merely to establish similar rates" at those where they are not in effect.

Section 28 would have gone into effect more than three years ago, he said, if the board had not caused its suspension due to the deficiency in American tonnage.

NEW TREATMENT RIDS YOU OF RHEUMATIC PAINS QUICKLY

No Medicine to Take. Results Guaranteed by Local Druggists

The well-known physicist, Alessandro Volta for whom the electric volt was named, has made a scientific discovery that produces marvelous results with the most stubborn and agonizing cases of rheumatism, where the old-fashioned risky internal drug treatment has failed.

This famous discovery, which revolutionizes old ideas about the cause and proper treatment of rheumatism, is an external remedy intended to be absorbed into the blood through the myriad pores of the feet.

The eminent Italian scientist has compounded a powder called Volta, that is intended to be a powerful and active Uric Acid solvent. This marvelous powder, when shaken into the shoes or stockings, is intended to be absorbed almost immediately into the blood, thus acting upon certain poisons now definitely determined to be the cause of most rheumatic agony.

So remarkable and rapid have been the results from the use of Volta powder, both in this country and in Italy, that the American distributors have authorized local druggists to dispense Volta with an unqualified guarantee of relief from the use of the very first package or your money will be refunded.

If you suffer from rheumatic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, Gout or Neuralgia, you owe it to yourself to try this startling scientific treatment. It is absolutely harmless and will not cost one cent if you do not receive wonderful relief.

You can get a box of Volta, from any good druggists as Stewart's Cut Rate Drug Store, Warner Bros., Fisher & Streich. Advertisement

WASHINGTON, D. He expects the wound to be thoroughly healed within a few days. In the meantime, Jakie is chasing balls in the outfield and taking his turn at bunting.

Manager Moran was said to be slowly overcoming the attack of indigestion which has kept him confined to his room since arriving at Orlando, but probably will not be able to take his place on the field for another week.

Champs Signing Up

NEW YORK, March 5—The Yankee salary rebellion has all but subsided. Whitey Witt and Wallie Pipp signed contracts yesterday. Aaron Ward and Bob Shawkey will settle their differences with Manager Huggins at the training camp; Sam Jones has virtually accepted terms and Bob Meusel is not considered a hold-out. Only Herb Pennock remains and the club-owners insist upon his complete surrender.

The world's champions enjoyed an unexpected holiday at the New Orleans quarters yesterday watching the Mardi Gras revellers.

John McGraw donned a uniform for the first time at the Giant camp at Sarasota and did everything he asked his men to do.

The first game of the season for the Giants will be played Saturday against the University of Florida nine.

The Robins continued their "two-a-day" practice at Clearwater, Fla. The usual afternoon practice game which the Yannigans won, 8 to 6, was featured by heavy hitting.

STOCK MARKET CONTINUES NARROW AND IRREGULAR

Fair Demand for Independent Steels; Oils Displa y Much Group Strength

NEW YORK, March 5.—Stocks in which there is a large speculative following, particularly the oils, sought higher levels in today's quiet and irregular market. Weakness cropped out, however, in a number of the leathers, chemicals and rubbers due to poor trade conditions. The close was irregular. Sales approximated 600,000 shares.

NEW YORK, March 5.—Stock prices moved within narrow and irregular limits at the opening of today's market. A fair demand developed for some of the independent steels. Congoleum dropped a point and New Orleans, Texas and Mexico sagged ¾.

Irregularity continued throughout the early dealings with the oils giving a good demonstration of group strength. Maracaibo advanced two points and Pacific and Phillips one each but Atlantic Refining dropped 1¾. St. Paul common and preferred each advanced a point and New Orleans, Texas and Mexico cancelled its loss and advanced ¾ to 103, a new 1924 high. Central Leather common and preferred dropped 1 and ⅞, respectively, to new 1924 lows, and Deere preferred broke 6 points. United States Cast Iron Pipe and American Woolen were again under pressure, dropping 1½ each. Foreign exchanges opened irregular.

Although the oils and certain low-priced rails presented a strong front, bear traders were successful in uncovering a number of weak spots, particularly among the leather, silk and chemical shares. Additional new 1924 low records were established by Delaware and Hudson, Chicago and Eastern Illinois preferred, United Drug, Julius Kayser, common and preferred, and American Agricultural Chemical common and preferred, the losses ranging from 2 to 5½ points. Standard industrials, such as United States Steel common, American Can and Baldwin, met good support and eventually climbed above last night's close. General Electric and Westinghouse were in good demand, each rising about a point before noon. Call money opened at 4½ per cent.

GRAIN MARKET PRICES SAG

CHICAGO, March 5.—Grain prices developed weakness today soon after the opening. Uncertainty due to reports that the White House had given qualified endorsement to the McNary-Haugen bill had a bearish effect on wheat. There was also a tendency among some traders to regard a price setback as natural in view of the recent upturns. Wheat opening prices, which ranged from unchanged figures to ⅜c higher, May, 1.11⅞ to 1.12, and July, 1.12⅛ to 1.12¼, were followed by a moderate general decline.

Corn reflected continued liberal receipts. After opening at a shade lower to ⅛c advance, May, 81⅜ to 81½, the market underwent a material decline all around.

Prices closed steady at ¼ to ½@⅝c net decline; May 1.11⅝ to 1.11⅝@½, and July 1.11⅝.

Oats sympathizing with the weakness of other cereals, started at 1-9@⅛c off to a shade up, May, 48½ to 48⅝. Later, all deliveries showed some loss.

Provisions were easier in line with hog markets.

The close was steady, ⅜c net lower; May 81⅛ to 81¼@¼.

Railroad Group Advances on Bond Market

NEW YORK, March 5.—Heavy buying of the St. Paul railroad issues, which advanced from one to almost five points on reports that the road had completed arrangements for refunding its $17,000,000 gold 4's next year, featured early trading in bonds today, added to purchases by the road itself was a demand for the maturing issue from interests expecting an attractive exchange offer, which sent the price up 4⅝ points. The rise in St. Paul liens led a general advance in the speculative railroad group. Uneasiness over leather trade conditions caused selling of Central Leather 5's which carried the issue down 2⅝ points to new low price for the year.

Several industrials were also strong. Dubilier again made a new high record on an advance to above 24. Ward Baking issues continued extremely weak, the A stock being under continued pressure. Radio common was in steady demand and made a fractional advance.

Standard Oil Group Gains On the Curb

NEW YORK, March 5.—Indicated resumption of accumulation of Standard Oil issues was the outstanding feature of the curb exchange today. Many leading stocks in that group made gains ranging from one to six points, the movement being helped by efforts to cover part of the recently created short account.

This movement was in line with strength shown in trading in oil stocks on the stock exchange and was construed as foreshadowing the announcement of further advances in crude oil and created increased interest in the statement of production to be issued Thursday. Prairie Oil and Gas made the greatest gain on this movement, advancing about 6 points before noon. Imperial Oil of Canada, and Vacuum Oil were in demand on a large scale and there was heavy buying of Standard Oil of Indiana which moved up about one point.

SAYS DOLLINGS CO. PAID NO DIVIDENDS WHEN NOT EARNED

COLUMBUS, March 5.—(By the A. P.)—Dwight Harrison, former vice president of the R. L. Dollings company, being tried in the United States court with William G. Benham, former president of that company for misuse of the government mails, finished his direct examination late today. His cross-examination was immediately undertaken by Judge Hough, district attorney.

Judge Hough directed his examination of the witness to the various industries for which the Dollings company had paid preferred stock dividends. Mr. Harrison stated when questioned that the American Motor Truck Company, the Burton-Townsend Company and the C. & E. Shoe Company, between January and July, 1923, had not earned their preferred stock dividends, which had been paid.

He said that he could not remember whether the Champion Engineering Company had earned its preferred dividends during the same period. He made practically the same statement in reference to the Florida Farms & Industrials Company, and said that that company had some earnings from its railroad, hotels and stores. He was then questioned in minute detail about the business affairs of this company.

It is not expected Harrison will furnish his cross-examination before late tomorrow.

Dispute Over Reading Bible; Schools Closed

SALEM, O., March 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Petitions are being circulated in Green township, Columbiana county, today, demanding that the schools of the township be opened following the resignation of Superintendent H. C. Seran and all the teachers during a controversy in the reading of the Bible in the schools.

The high and grade schools of the township are closed. The school board decreed that the Bible be read each day in the schools, but Superintendent Seran declared that the periods were too crowded for the exercise and suggested that pupils meet twice each week for the purpose. The plan was agreed to by pupils and board, but one board member is said to have indicated the superintendent was evading the order. This resulted in Mr. Seran's resignation which was followed by members of his teaching staff.

Says Republicans Reduced Wealth

KANSAS CITY, MO., March 5—(By the Associated Press)—The Republican national administration was charged with reducing the national wealth $75,000,000,000 in an address here last night by Matthew A. Neely, United States senator from West Virginia. He asserted that when the late President Wilson left office the national wealth was $300,000,000,000. Eighteen months of Republican rule, he said, had caused a reduction equivalent to a loss of $750 to every man, woman and child.

"The working man has lost seven billions," Senator Neely declared, "the merchant six billions and the farmers lost thirty billions in valuation of the farms and farm products," he said.

New Bank for Japs

TOKIO, March 5.—(By the Associated Press)—The construction firm of James Stewart and Company, of New York, has entered into a preliminary contract with the Mitsui interests to construct for them the largest bank building in the Orient, the first important permanent building to be erected in Tokio since the earthquake of last September. The estimated cost was not announced but it is expected to be approximately 15,000,000 yen, (approximately $7,500,000).

The building will be a concrete, stone and steel structure erected on the site of the old Mitsui Bank, and it is expected to set the standards for the best post quake construction. Preliminary plans call for a building of five stories or more.

Mrs. Byfield charges Candler with having attacked her in her stateroom while she and her husband, Clyde K. Byfield, Candler and his two young daughters were on board the Berengaria en route to Europe on July 17, 1922.

ART DRAGGED INTO COURT

THE most recent episode in the battle between the courts and the freedom of speech, of literature and the press was the London trial of a newspaper editor for alleged subversion of the public morals by the publication of "Many Marriages," by Sherwood Anderson. The editor was convicted and sentenced to serve four months in prison.

An American publication is quoted as follows on the trial:

"If there was one thing that the trial established it was that a police court is not the place where literary cases should be judged. The proceedings were farcical. Neither judge, jury, counsel nor police were qualified to deal with the complex issues which had become entangled with the simple issue as to the editor's motives in printing the review. The judge knew the law. When alluding to sultry passages in the novel he enjoyed a virtuous rage more or less innocently described by him as painful. (They all speak of their painful duty). He very carefully defined obscenity to the jury as if believing that definitions of things give absolute knowledge of things. But as for knowing what was really bad for society in the case before him, he knew no more than any other professional custodian of public morals from the time of Socrates.

"Literary critics were called for the defense. It was not the least humorous feature of the farce that a distinctly low-brow newspaper should have appealed to highbrows for their opinion as to Anderson's literary standing. Not only poverty makes strange bedfellows. The critics, in their several ways, asserted their belief in an artist's right to freedom of expression. They also referred to the novel (on trial) as being dull, silly and unpleasant, as against the judge's references to its being horrible, filthy and lewd. They viewed it largely from an aesthetic standpoint, the judge wholly from the standpoint of conventional morality.

"Such are the facts of a case, unimportant in itself and unworthy of record but for the real issues involved. How far individuals may go in the matter of artistic expression, and how far society has the right to restrict their liberty, is a twin problem calling loudly for the pen of a modern John Stuart Mill. To many it seems that society and the artist are fundamentally antagonistic and must always be at war. The artist must take his chance."

GREATNESS

HUMAN qualities alone do not make greatness, in its true sense. The possession of real greatness comes from qualities of the divine which show forth in the demeanor or man. Greatness that is genuine is characterized by simplicity. He who is truly great does not put himself forward. Perfect poise, which manifests itself in speech and in action, is an outstanding mark of greatness. The world spontaneously volunteers admiration for the one who can remain unmoved by the storms of strife and passion which sway other men about him.

Candor and straightforward speaking are found in those who are really great. They have nothing to conceal, they have no deed to deceive. What they say comes from their hearts and may be depended upon. The great man is tolerant of the opinions of others; he is charitable toward their failings; he is genuinely sympathetic in their sorrow; he rejoices in their successes.

Such are some of the qualties of greatness, which are deeper and of more worth than many of the material symbols for which men are often more inclined to work toward. Real greatness consists in showing forth the image and likeness of God.

An understanding of that which constitutes true greatness would help to establish justice and peace the world o'er.

NEW YORK DAY-BY-DAY

BY O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 5.—Nothing is quite so disturbing as to dress all up for the play and then at the theatre read "For the Well Dressed Man" in the program. All the cherished Beau Brummel ideas are knocked for a row of cut-glass pen-wipers.

You may have the idea you are decked-up for a one man fashion show, but after reading of the newest frills and furbelows you realize you are only a bounder ready for the rag picker. The vest you have paired off with your dinner jacket is a sartorial quince.

The bow tie you imagined was spruce is about as up to date as the Victorian barrel cuffs. Trousers used to be so tight you only accepted them from the tailor when you couldn't get into them. Now they have ballooned so you have to take two steps while the trousers are taking one.

The trousers also reach almost to the armpits. One hitch in them and you could use the side pockets for ear muffs. And if you are inclined toward the audacious the vest is whacked off to about half the length it was a year ago.

The pearl shirt studs the boys from the office gave you are almost as impossible as the wife appears when you fail to register in for dinner. Black studs are the smart and racy thing. They have taken the pleats out of the white shirt and transferred them to the trousers. Only the boiled concrete shirt is attaboyish.

One reads as follows: "For the motorist the over-boot is essential. Made of soft suede or ooze leather it must be slipped over patent dance Oxfords. The boot is lined with fleece and the top is edged with fur."

The man who writes the program blurbs is paid a huge salary to keep pace with changing fashions. The average dresser reads and dangles foolishly twixt tweedle-dum and tweedledee. About the only thing he may wear in comfort is his underwear.

In the hide away haunts where strange liquid concoctions are sold there are some odd reactions to the stuff that is served. One of the prim sympathetic ladies imbibed what was supposed to be cocktails. Then she began to weep because the buffalo is disappearing.

In the old days people used to sing instead of weeping. Almost every night the strains of a suddenly formed quartette in barbershop harmony floated out the swing door. There was that moment of exquisite blending when the leader would cry "Hold it boys, hold it!" Then the singers would turn to the barkeeper and ask to know if they were not gentlemen. There never was a bartender who did not agree they were so long as they kept on buying.

Chorus girls choose the most elegant pseudonyms for the footlights. In one program I found the following listed in a musical show: Violetta Regal, Carola Poinsetta, Zoli Dove Barrat Deauxville, Tab Litt Kamari, Mareta Juanita, Zelda O'Claire and Robyna Rose.

Chorus men are difficult to engage. The ranks are thinning. It used to be that ambitious stage aspirants believed the chorus opened a way to stellar roles. The men who have graduated from the chorus to bigger roles can almost be counted on the two hands. There is a Rialto proverb reading: "Once a spear toter always a spear toter." Agencies say there are not enough chorus men now to fill the demand. The salary averages about $50 a week.

The Miser

I'll admit I am a miser;
I have hoarded precious gold!
Do you wonder I'm no wiser?
Let the secret then be told!
I have saved up all the glances
And have treasured ev'ry phrase
To remind me of romances
Of the dim and distant days!

All these gifts were gaily given
Me when life and love were young!
Now my heart is rent and riven,
And my songs have all been sung!
But, behold, I glont and glory
In possessions rich and rare!
It seems like a fairy story:
To a fortune I am heir!

THE ROMANTICIST.

Slightly Late

A nervous young gentleman, all a-flutter over the prospect of attending a party in a nearby city, rushed breathlessly into the railroad station at Bangs Center.

"When does the first train leave for Galesburg?" he asked of the white-haired station agent who was perched on a truck in the baggage room.

"Son," replied the agent, "the fust train left for Galesburg in 1861."

Movie Of A Man Who Sees Himself In A Movie For The First Time — By Briggs

Sh-h-h!

An old lady of a somewhat rustic appearance hustled up to an express clerk in New York and laid down a package for shipment.

"What does it contain, Madam?" he asked.

"Do you have to know that?" she inquired tremulously.

"It's customary."

"W-w-ell, I'll tell you then, but I'd like for you to keep it a secret, as it's a surprise for my son."

Without Malice

Sam, impaneled for jury service at a murder trial, had seemed a little too anxious to serve.

"Do you know the accused?" he was asked.

"Yassuh—dat is, nossuh," he replied, realizing that if he made an affirmative answer he would be disbarred from serving.

"Have you made up your mind as to his guilt or innocence?"

"Oh, no, suh."

"You think, then, that you could give his case a fair hearing?"

"Yassuh," replied Sam. "Leastways, ez fair ez de ole scamp deserves."

In Need Himself

"Can I count on your support election day?" asked the candidate of the village soak, who had a few under his belt at the time.

"Well, Judge," replied the latter, "to tell you sh' truth, I 'spect to be a li'l under sh' weather m'self on 'lection day."

BERTON BRALEY'S DAILY POEM

Will Power

BY BERTON BRALEY

"MY will," said I, "is very strong;
Though I've been smoking right along.
When I make up my mind to it
I'll lay aside my pipe—and QUIT."

"WELL, well," remarked my friend to me,
"I have a nice new crinkly 'V'
Which says you can't quit for a week.
Put up your cash and let it speak."

ALONG about the second day
I said, "How foolish, anyway,
Was my good friend, how dull of wit,
To go and bet I couldn't quit."

AND on the fourth day I observed,
"My resolution hasn't swerved,
I could continue to abstain,
Four days have proved that, very plain.

"BUT what's the use? I've proved that I'm
Able to stop at any time
And since that's true, I'm satisfied,
I knew 'twas easy when I tried.

"WHY, therefore, should a man connive
To rob his comrade of a five?
'Twould be, to put it very mild,
Like taking candy from a child.

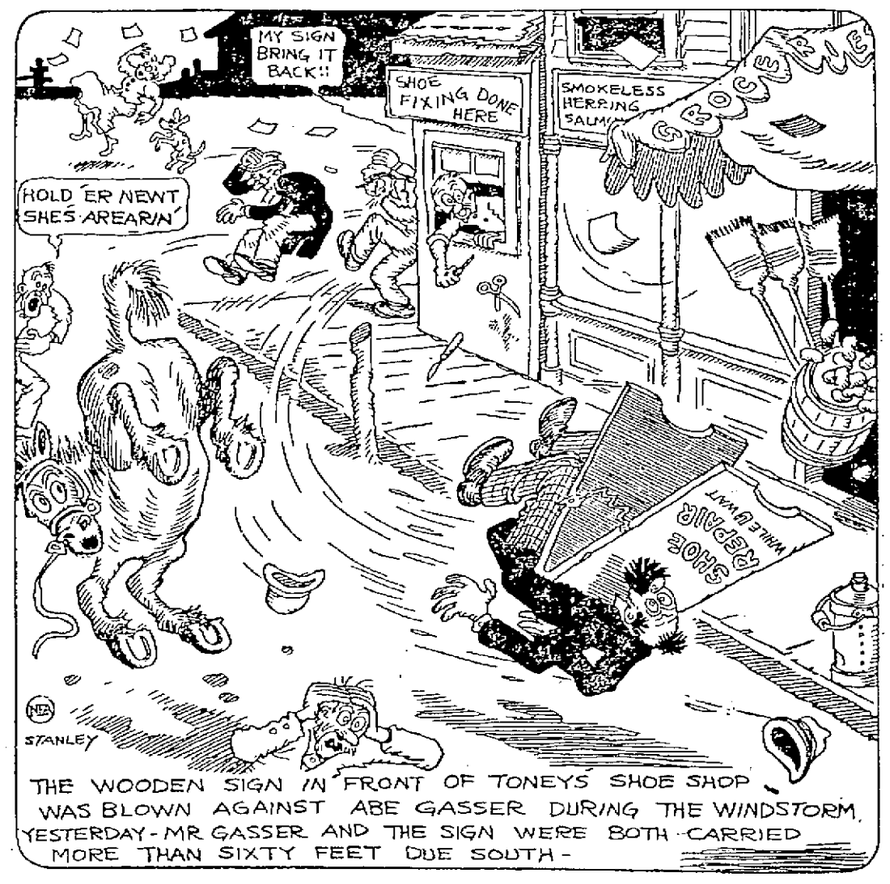

"SO bring my pipe down from the shelf,
I've wholly satisfied myself
That I can quit it easily
At any time it pleases me.

"AND knowing that, without regret,
I light my pipe and pay my bet."
